

Crash Ends Wild Chase; Boy Dies

Route of Plunge by Death Car

Path of the death car could be traced in tire marks visible on grass at the crest of the bank off Dallas Road where it dove to the beach with four boys in it. In centre photo, taken from the spot the car came to rest, is shown the point at which it left the bank, tearing

Dulles Leaves To Meet John D.

WASHINGTON (UP) — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles flew to Canada today for his all-important, "get-acquainted" visit with Prime Minister John D. Diefenbaker during the weekend.

The visit to Ottawa will be Dulles' first official trip to Canada in almost two years. The meeting was billed as an informal session to give Dulles a chance to get acquainted with Diefenbaker. The Canadian embassy said it considered the meeting "quite important" even though no decisions are expected to be made.

Although no agenda for the Dulles-Diefenbaker talk is set, these subjects could come up:

Wheat—Canada, which has a big wheat surplus, is unhappy about the U.S. program of disposing of surplus wheat at cut-rate prices. The Canadians claim the program reduces potential Canadian markets by encouraging foreign buyers to try to get cheap American surplus wheat.

Disarmament—Both Canada and the U.S. are negotiating with Russia at London disarmament talks. The U.S. has suggested that the "open skies" aerial inspection zone might include not only the U.S. but also Canada in exchange for inspection of the Soviet Union.

Exchange of personnel information. This became a hot issue in U.S.-Canadian relations last spring after Herbert Norman, then Canadian Ambassador to Cairo, committed suicide.

Turkeys—Some Americans are unhappy about Canada's recent import restrictions on turkeys and other fowl. Dulles could bring this up.

U.S. Atom Batteries At Canadians' Call

CAMP GAGETOWN, N.B. (CP) — Atomic weapons are not permitted to be used even by United States allies. The Canadian Army will be able to call upon the services of American atomic missile batteries in event of an emergency.

Army officers said here Thursday that plans have already been drawn up whereby American units equipped with Honest John and Corporal atomic missiles will come to the immediate support of Canadian troops in event of war.

An American missile battery has been detailed to support of the Canadian Army in Canada and another to support of the Canadian infantry brigade group in Europe.

This means in event of war for its major exercise—Eastern Canadian soldiers would have the Star-of summer-long manoeuvres best weapons available. It circumscribes at this camp in south central New Brunswick United States congressional Brunswick. More than 10,000 legislation under which American troops will be involved.

RAF Suspends Raids on Oman Rebel Forces

SHARJAH, Arabian Trucial Coast (Reuters) — After three days of cannon and rocket attacks the RAF announced today it is suspending further action against Oman rebels.

The news came shortly after RAF Venom jet fighters attacked a Fort at Tanuf, seven miles north of the rebel Imam of Oman's headquarters at Nizwa.

There was no immediate information about the period of suspension, but observers here thought the attacks have swung some support back to the sultan from tribesmen who rallied recently to the Imam.

The sultan's red flag was seen today flying over the desert fortress of Iki, attacked in the first jet strikes Wednesday.

PRESUME FLAG RAISED

With no news of any ground activity, it was presumed here that the flag was raised by the occupants of the fort, replacing the white emblem of the Imam which fluttered there as the RAF went into the attack.

Four Venom fighters took off in the first strike today, but one turned back with engine trouble. The other three reported they fired rockets and shells into the centre of the deserted fort.

Dr. Adams Found Guilty On 14 Counts

LEWES, England (AP) — Dr. John Bodkin Adams was fined $6,380 today for violating laws covering larceny, cremation, forgery and dangerous drugs. He pleaded guilty to 14 of 16 charges against him.

The court earlier accepted Adams' not guilty plea on the remaining two charges.

The 57-year-old society physician was ordered in addition to pay all the costs of the prosecution.

Defence counsel Edward Clarke said a cheque would be handed over before Adams left the court.

Today's trial was the second one the portly doctor had faced in the last four months.

He was acquitted last April in London's Old Bailey court of charges of drugging to death one of his wealthy patients, an 81-year-old widow, to benefit from her will.

PRAYER FOR TODAY

O Thou God of work, who in Thine infinite wisdom also rested, grant us wisdom to use the ebb and flow of life so as to create and to rest—so as to minister to others, and to be restored and refreshed of Thee. To this end bless us each Lord's day, and grant that even in our vacation days we may learn of Thee in Jesus name. Amen.

UNIONIST SEEKS ROYAL PROBE OF HOSPITALS

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP) — A royal commission inquiry into the administration of British Columbia hospitals was demanded today by a top-ranking union official.

W. Black, president of the 100,000-member B.C. Federation of Labor and business manager of the 2,500-member local 180, claims the B.C. Hospital Insurance Service is "in danger of breaking down" and the government is making a profit out of it.

Health Minister Eric Martin reported that it is "impossible to run it (BCHIS) at a profit . . . or at a loss."

At the same time Mr. Martin said his department had received no request from either Royal Columbian Hospital in New Westminster or St. Paul's Hospital in Vancouver, where nurses' strikes are threatened, to send in a BCHIS investigating team.

"It's a matter between the board and nurses," he said.

William Fraser, chief provincial conciliation officer, was scheduled to meet today to try and settle the Royal Columbian dispute.

British PM Backs Brownell's Plea

LONDON (UP) — British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan today gave full endorsement to U.S. Attorney-General Herbert Brownell's plea for a solid system of international law.

Macmillan told the American Bar Association that Brownell had hit the nail on the head "when he spoke of the search for a means to apply what we have learned of justice between men to the affairs of nations."

Frantic Mother Fails To Save 5 From Flames

SPANISH, Ont. (CP) — Five children were burned to death here early today as their mother frantically tried to batter her way into her locked, burning home.

Dead are the family of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Trudeau—Melvin, 12; Rudy, 10; Patrick, seven; Lulu, six; and Carl, four.

They were trapped by flames in their one-storey, tar-papered home in this unincorporated community 65 miles west of Sudbury, when flames barred a rear entrance and a front door proved to be locked.

The fire was believed to have started in a shed attached to the house where Mrs. Trudeau was heating water on a wood stove.

She was carrying water from the nearby home of her father-in-law. Her screams aroused neighbors who attempted to help her, but were driven back by flames.

Mrs. Trudeau said she broke a window in the bedroom where the children slept, and grabbed Melvin by the arm to pull him out, but he refused to leave until the others were awakened.

The children's bodies all were found later in the bedroom, badly burned. One body was found under a bed, another near the door.

Little girl I know came home from camp yesterday. And all of a sudden a livin' room becomes a stadium.

Britain Backs U.S. Proposal To Ban Arms

LONDON (AP) — Britain today pleaded support for the United States plan to ban outer space weapons. At the same time she rejected Russia's proposal for prohibiting all forms of rocket warfare.

A British informant said Cmd. Alan Noble told the five-power UN disarmament sub-committee that Britain considers the American proposal should "appropriately" be included in a partial disarmament treaty.

The American proposal, submitted Thursday by Harold E. Stassen, envisaged that a technical committee, within three months after a disarmament accord comes into effect, should design means of ensuring that outer space missiles be developed only for peaceful purposes.

The source said Noble told the five-power United Nations group that Britain could not accept Soviet proposals for banning all forms of guided missiles and rocket armaments.

The actual banning of research on armed missiles would not come until the second stage of disarmament, after scientists had agreed on a system of enforcement.

Following his usual practice, Soviet delegate Valerian Zorin did not immediately accept or reject the proposal. He said it would be studied.

Death Toll at 23

ISTANBUL, Turkey (UP) — The death toll in the crash of a Turkish Air Force jet plane at Bursa rose to 23 today as seven injured persons died in hospitals.

Waterfront Plunge Injures 3 Others

4 A.M. Fatality Ends Mad Dash of Stolen Car

A spectacular plunge and crash over the Dallas Road waterfront, killing a 13-year-old boy, ended a wild police chase of a stolen car shortly after 4 a.m. today.

Three teenaged companions were seriously hurt when the car rocketed off a 40-foot bank at Cook and Dallas, to wind up on the beach.

The car was being chased by Saanich and city police cars at speeds estimated at near 70 miles an hour, while parents thought all boys were in bed.

Dead is Gunnar Stebeck, 13, 1430 Perfbroke, who was pronounced dead on arrival at St. Joseph's Hospital shortly after 4.15 a.m.

The injured are:

Barry Jackson, 15, 2601 Roseberry; concussion, left arm and leg injuries, condition at noon improved to good.

Ray Murdoch, 12, 1448 Taunton; concussion, scalp cuts and bruises, condition serious.

James Lott, 13½, 1321 Haul-

tain; internal and head injuries, condition serious following surgery.

The chase and crash were among the most violent ever seen in Victoria.

Police did not know which of the boys was driving. Their parents said they were unaware any of the boys could drive.

1955 Station Wagon a Total Loss

The stolen car, a 1955 station wagon, taken at 3 a.m. from the two Dallas and the cliff-top, carport of its owner, Dan Macdonald, West Saanich Road, where steps go down to the beach and skidded sideways on the top of the bank before soaring off.

The car landed upside down on its front end, apparently bounced into the air again and came to rest on gravel and drift logs on its wheels, facing north about 20 feet from the sea.

Cpl. Ledson, unable to bring his car to a safe stop on Dallas because of the high speed, was forced to drive over the curb, causing blowouts on both front wheels of the police car.

He called for ambulances immediately and went to aid the occupants of the wrecked car.

One Boy Partly Thrust Under Log

One boy was found partly thrust under a log, one was partly in and partly out of the car and the other two were within five feet of the car.

Windshield was completely broken out of its frame, one wheel squashed into the frame and fender, the other front wheel torn off, part of the roof ripped open and the steering column crushed into the front seat.

Back seat and the rest of the car were virtually undamaged. Barry Jackson was taken to St. Joseph's by city police ambulance; Barry Murdoch by Saanich ambulance; James Lott by Oak Bay police ambulance, and the dead boy was taken by city police and naval shore patrol vehicle.

Three of the boys, excepting Ray Murdoch, had been sleeping in a tent in the backyard of the Jackson home Thursday night. They were checked by Mrs.

Police believe they took a car from 1612 Myrtle, property of Robert Mellis, sometime before 12.30 a.m., drove it to Brentwood and left it on West Saanich Road, evidently with engine trouble.

The car was found by Central Saanich police at 3.30 a.m. with its hood in the ditch, but otherwise undamaged.

Nearby was the home of Mr. MacDonald, awakened by boys talking near her bedroom window, got up to get a glass of water and noticed her husband's car missing from the car port next to the kitchen.

Mr. MacDonald reported the theft immediately.

GUNNAR STEBECK
... crash victim

POLICEMAN SAYS:

'They Were Pulling Away From Us'

"I haven't the foggiest idea how fast we were going down Cook," Saanich police Cpl. Leslie H. Ledson said today after his spectacular chase of a fleeing car at 4 a.m. today.

"They were pulling away from us. They weren't wasting any time. It was considerably faster than 50 miles an hour."

The car in which Gunnar Stebeck died "disappeared in a cloud of dust" at the top of the bank at Cook and Dallas, apparently after trying to make a left turn onto Dallas, the officer said.

"Some of them were lucky to be alive," he added.

The officer was so busy driving his police car and trying to catch up to the fleeing vehicle containing four teen-agers he said he never looked at the speedometer.

Losers Rank, Command

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. army today ordered Col. John C. Nickerson, convicted of divulging missile secrets, to a routine job in the Panama Canal Zone. He will be deprived of his privileges of rank and command.

CORKSCREW COMES HIGH

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate investigators testified today that $128,045 of United Textile Workers funds was "misused" by union officials. They cited expenditures for lavish theatre parties and costly gifts including a $25.20 corkscrew.

253 Known Dead Over 800 Missing In Japanese Gale

TOKYO (AP)—A violent storm which in 24 hours dumped 29 inches of rain on low-lying, thickly populated areas of Japan's southernmost major island left at least 253 persons dead today and more than 800 missing or unaccounted for.

CRASH

Central Saanich police notified Saanich police and at about 4:10 a.m. the stolen station wagon was seen heading for Victoria near Royal Oak.

Up to the time city police car with its flashing red light was encountered at Topaz, speed of the station wagon was only about 40 miles an hour, police said.

When occupants realized they were spotted, speed was increased and the car driven over a boulevard to avoid the city police car.

Mrs. L. Jackson, mother of Barry, after seeing her boy in hospital today said they are very repentant lads.

"They are not bad boys," she said. "They are high-spirited, of course and set out on what they thought was a bit of mischief when their parents believed them in bed."

"It has turned into a tragedy which they only realize now. They have learned a terrible lesson they will never forget."

Mrs. Jackson said her boy has done "very well in the air cadets and he just loves it."

Mrs. Stebeck, a widow of two years, said she had wanted her boy to come home Thursday night when weather turned out cool for sleeping out of doors.

"I can't think," she said today. "Mrs. Stebeck came with her husband and six children—four boys and two girls, with Gunnar the youngest— from Norway four years ago."

An inquest has been ordered for next Tuesday at 10 a.m. at McCall's funeral home.

Japanese Curb Russian Envoys

TOKYO (AP)—The Japanese government has restricted travel by Soviet diplomats in Japan in retaliation for similar curbs put on Japanese in Moscow. Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi's cabinet today announced the 26 members of the Soviet embassy, their families and servants could travel 25 miles beyond the heart of Tokyo only with special permission.

GRIM ENDING TO SEARCH

WHITE LAKE, Ont. (CP)—The search for a missing airman, Flight Sgt. C. A. W. Larose, 41, came to a grim and sudden end Thursday when his body was found hanging from a tree.

Ontario Provincial Police described Larose's death as suicide, adding that their investigation disclosed the airman purchased some rope in nearby Arnprior last Thursday, the day he vanished.

Death Stalks At Wedding Celebration

CAIRO (UP)—A midnight wedding party ended in death for at least 62 persons including the bride when an ancient building collapsed to the stamping and clapping of guests watching an Egyptian belly dancer.

The police sergeant in charge of the rescue squad said 62 bodies had been dug out of the wreckage of the four-story building.

One police official said "as many as 77 may have been killed" when the walls of the house came crashing down on more than 200 guests. Another 15 persons were reported in serious condition at hospitals, and it was feared the death toll would rise.

The bride, 19-year-old Fatma el Shmy, wearing her white wedding dress was found in the debris. The bridegroom escaped with injuries.

As for that dear old chestnut, "Danny Boy," it has seldom sounded more beautiful.

FAMILIAR PROGRAM
A comfortably familiar but worthwhile program had been selected by Hans Gruber, and the orchestra played it with spirit and confidence.

The Tchaikovsky "Swan Lake" ballet suite and Schubert "Unfinished" Symphony were particularly well received. The former proved that even a delicate thread of sound is effective and crystal-clear in this setting with Alan Macey's unique sound equipment.

Spinners of the delicate thread were harpist Lorna Langley, concert master Cori McCartney and leading cellist, Mary Evans.

Attendance at the concert this year has gone over the 10,000 mark, which constitutes a record for the four years in which they have been held.

One of the convicted men was former turnpike commission chairman Thomas J. Evans and another was his nephew, Charles W. Stickler Jr., president of a Reading, Pa., engineering firm formed in 1952 with $1,800 capital and worth a stock value four years later of more than $1,080,000.

'Picnic' Crowd Of 3,000 Hear Garden Concert

By AUDREY S.L.D. JOHNSON

Responding to an appeal to "come early, bring suppers and fill your cars," Butchart Gardens lawns were thickly dotted by 5 p.m. Thursday with large groups of families and friends who defied cool breezes and threatening skies.

Last of this season's garden symphony concerts, the occasion attracted a crowd of more than 3,000.

Grandparents, parents, teenagers, toddlers, babies in arms, invalids in wheelchairs, enjoyed the fabulous gardens, but all paid the Victoria Symphony Orchestra and guest star, tenor Charles Edward O'Neill, the tribute of attention and hearty applause they merited.

CHILDREN WONDERFUL
"I've never seen such well-behaved children," complimented symphony president Jack Barrackough, in a short speech of thanks to hosts Mr. and Mrs. Ian Ross, musicians and audience.

"They're wonderful. Thank you, children."

O'Neill proved not only to have a voice that matched his towering physique, but one that is richly resonant and superb in quality and that is handled with discretion and a genuine musical feeling.

His performance in the "Pagliacci" and "La Boheme" arias suggested an operatic ability which could parallel that of Gigli.

As for that dear old chestnut, "Danny Boy," it has seldom sounded more beautiful.

LONDON SEES VIOLENCE

Strikers Hurl Bottles, Bricks

LONDON (Reuters)—Bottles and bricks were flung today at police-escorted convoys of fruit and vegetable trucks bringing supplies to London's five strike-bound produce markets.

Violence in the food strike and in another stoppage of 100,000 provincial bus workers was less marked, today, however, following a government warning Thursday.

Most quarters predicted a quick end to the week-old bus strike. A government tribunal Thursday proposed an 11-shilling ($154 weekly) pay raise for the workers and employers immediately approved it.

This removed tension prevailing in many parts of the country where pickets had tried to halt all road travel and clashed with non-striking drivers.

EXTRA POLICE GUARDS
In the food strike, police escorts and pickets conducted a race to get at the loaded farm trucks first.

The motorized pickets raced down to the farm country and tried to persuade drivers not to bring the produce to market.

Extra police guarded the five main London Markets, hit by a convoy of 3,500 food handlers, the truck convoys pulled in.

The bottles and bricks were hurled at a convoy arriving at Spitalfields market. Strikers and their wives shouted, jeered and threw bottles at the loaded trucks.

Electricians
Accept Offer

VANCOUVER (CP)—City-employed electricians Thursday agreed to accept a new wage offer from council but final settlement of their strike—in its 30th day—was still around the corner.

Acceptance depends, the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers said, on council's agreement to "certain non-cost items."

The wage agreement reached provides for a 10 per cent increase retroactive to last Jan. 1; a three per cent increase effective Oct. 1; four per cent more next Jan. 1; and a final four per cent next July 1. At the end of the two-year period, wages would have been raised 21 per cent. The contract would expire Dec. 31, 1958.

Fountain Circle To Be Torn Up; One-Way Plan Tested

Council Votes For Flat Rate Business Tax

Dissenters Say Small Firms Hit

By a vote of seven to two, city council Thursday approved a recommendation that a business tax be levied on a flat rate instead of on classification and graduation basis.

The recommendation was made by Ald. Hugh Ramsay, chairman of the business tax committee, appointed to study a method of implementing the business tax which was approved by council earlier this year.

Voting against the recommendation were Ald. Don Smith and M. H. Mooney, who favored the classification system.

They argued that all firms, shops and businesses should first be classified as to their sizes and the volume of their businesses and then taxed accordingly.

SMALL FIRMS HIT

The flat rate system, they claimed, would work to the detriment of small city firms and businesses.

"It's no better than the trades licence system," said Ald. Mooney.

Ald. Ramsay said his committee favored the establishment of a flat and uniform rate tax because they believed it is "more equitable than any scale set on the bases of classification or graduation."

He said the flat rate base was also favored by the controller of the city of Vancouver where the tax had been imposed for several years.

PROFESSOR APPROVES

Prof. D. M. Clark, University of British Columbia, an acknowledged authority on business tax matters, also favored the system, he said.

"The adoption of a flat or uniform rate has the added advantage that it conforms to the methods presently in use by the cities of Vancouver and New Westminster," he stated.

Ald. Smith replied that most other cities in Canada had rejected the flat rate system and collected business taxes on a classification basis.

"It will be a gross miscarriage of justice if the city approves the recommendation," said Ald. Smith who tangled with Ald. Ramsay over the issue.

Stating that he made a study of how the business tax was assessed in other cities, Ald. Smith said Montreal, Calgary, Toronto and other cities across Canada had implemented a business tax on a classification or graduation basis.

CLASH WITH MAYOR

"Under such a system, a small shop will be taxed three per cent on a rental basis and a large brewery 125 per cent," said the aldermen.

Ald. Smith clashed with Mayor Percy Scurrah over the issue.

He charged the mayor with having opposed the business tax.

"That is not correct," said the mayor. "I appointed a committee to impose a business tax. I first appointed you to the committee and you quit."

"I quit because I was given the merry-go-round," replied Ald. Smith. "The majority of councillors at the time were not in favor of a business tax."

British Art Exhibition For Canada

LONDON (CP)—An exhibition of 87 paintings by British artists of the 18th century will leave for Canada in September to be shown at three Canadian art galleries.

The collection, organized by the British council, will be shown at London's Tate Gallery for two weeks before being shipped overseas and will also appear for a month at the Toledo, Ohio, Art Gallery following its Canadian tour.

Most of the paintings have been lent by art galleries and private individuals in Britain, although a few come from American collections. Artists represented include Thomas Gainsborough, William Hogarth, Sir Joshua Reynolds and Sir Henry Raeburn. Four of the paintings have been loaned by the Queen.

The exhibition opens a one-month run at Montreal's Museum of Fine Arts Oct. 3, moves to the National Gallery of Canada at Ottawa Nov. 15, and will be shown for a third month at the Art Gallery of Toronto, beginning Jan. 10, 1958.

After weeks of wrangling and indecision, city council Thursday agreed to tear up the Fountain Circle at Douglas and Hillside and try out a one-way traffic plan.

The council by a vote of seven to two approved the traffic scheme proposed last October by J. D. Faustman, California expert.

But council agreed it should only be on a trial basis.

The plan calls for conversion of Douglas and Government to one-way streets between Princess and Hillside.

The Fountain Circle will be torn up and sandbags will be employed with a system of multiple lights and signs to direct the traffic.

The council's decision was a victory for Ald. M. H. Mooney a pet plan for the circle. He said since the traffic expert had handed down his recommendation, aldermen had reverted to their "pet" plans for the circle.

Mr. Faustman to study the Fountain Circle problem because it could not agree on a plan to improve the traffic situation.

Each alderman at the time had not the courage to endorse his recommendation.

Ald. Hugh Ramsay favored the scheme providing the one-way traffic plan was tried out first. All other aldermen with the exception of Ald. Austin Curtis and Ald. G. I. Edgelow agreed to this proposal.

Mayor Percy Scurrah was also in favor of the trial.

Ald. Curtis and Edgelow said giving the plan a trial would prove costly.

It would be less expensive to try out the plan with a system of road blocks, Ald. Curtis said. Installing traffic lights would be costly.

Ald. Mooney pointed out that 90 per cent of the merchants living near or around the Fountain Circle were in favor of the one-way traffic plan.

"I don't see any reason for blocking the scheme," he said. "This discussion has gone long enough."

The Great Debate

AFTER THE CIVIL WAR, IN the dark period of Reconstruction, the United States added to its Constitution the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Amendments.

The Fourteenth forbade any state to "abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens" or to "deprive any person of life, liberty or property without due process of law, nor deny to any person . . . the equal protection of the laws."

The Fifteenth declared that "the rights . . . of citizens . . . shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any state on account of race (or) color . . ."

During almost a century the Congress has done little by detailed legislation to enforce these constitutional safeguards in the case of Negroes. In many parts of the South the Negro has never been allowed to vote, though he is as much entitled to the franchise as any white man. Whenever the Congress has attempted to secure the Negro's vote by law, it has been frustrated by the repeated filibuster of the powerful Southern senators.

Today in Washington the American people are watching an historic debate which should decide whether the Constitution, in respect of the Negroes' civil rights, can be enforced or not.

But the American people are not the only interested spectators of this great test. The whole world, white and colored, is watching it with hope and anxiety.

No one is watching it more closely than the United States' enemies in the Communist nations. For this is much more than an argument on some domestic, partisan issue; it is a clear test of freedom itself, of those ideals which the United States upholds abroad in the current struggle of the world.

The core of the issue now before the Senate is the civil rights legislation proposed by President Eisenhower. The core of this legislation is a clause which says that the attorney-general of the United States may go into a federal court and secure an injunction forbidding any local authority to withhold the vote from a Negro by law or by intimidation.

The Unlimited Crop

THE WHEAT FARMERS OF Canada will soon receive from the Diefenbaker Government something like the price-support system prevailing in the United States. They will therefore be interested—and so will the taxpayers—in the American farmers' latest decision.

The wheat growers of the United States were offered by the Government an average price of $1.78 per bushel, provided they agreed to limit their planting this year to 55,000,000 acres. If they decided to cultivate a larger area then the guaranteed price would fall to about $1.19.

It has been widely predicted that the farmers of the southwest, after a long drought, would oppose acreage limitation in the hope of piling up a huge crop after the recent rain and thus making more money by unlimited production than they could get from a high government price.

But the farmers as a whole voted four to one in favor of acreage limitation. This does not mean, of course, that the Government has limited production to any specified amount, for no one can know in advance how much wheat 55,000,000 acres will yield.

The average yield per acre is rising, with variations resulting from weather, all over the world. Despite all its efforts to limit output the Government of the United States finds itself with gigantic surpluses

Any official who disregarded this injunction would be guilty of contempt of court and could be tried on that charge. Since Southern juries would be unlikely to convict such a man, the proposed federal law would dispense with jury trials in these cases and leave them entirely to judges.

The Solid Democratic South in the Senate has united as usual in opposition to any law designed to damage the doctrine called White Supremacy.

As the Northern Democrats support the Negro's just claims, and desperately require the Northern Negro vote) the Democratic Party is so split that a Democrat like Senator Richard Neuberger, of Oregon, foresees a disaster for his party if the breach cannot soon be repaired.

This danger is so clear, and the violation of the Negro's constitutional rights so flagrant, that most of the Southern bloc in the Senate does not openly oppose the objective of the universal franchise.

Instead, it reads, or pretends to read into the President's legislation a veiled attempt to enforce desegregation in the Southern schools, ordered by the Supreme Court not as an immediate step but as a long-term objective.

Moreover, the Southern senators denounce as a breach of the Constitution, or its intent, the proposal to deny any citizen a trial by jury.

The lines of struggle in the Senate are drawn, this summer, more clearly than ever and they cut straight through the Democratic Party.

Perhaps a means of compromise and accommodation may be found between the advocates and opponents of civil rights. But if the compromise is merely a political contrivance that does not actually assure the Negro's vote and leaves him disfranchised in actual Southern practice, the result will be much more than a defeat for the President. It will be a grave moral defeat for the United States as the leader of the free world. And the Communists, who allow a free vote to no one, will know how to exploit that defeat among all the colored races.

that it is dumping in the world market at the taxpayers' expense, and thereby damaging other producers like Canada.

The American farmer can plant only his fixed quota but by using new and prolific varieties of wheat, by better methods of cultivation and weed control, he continues to produce far more grain than the nation can use or sell abroad.

Unless weather drastically reduces our Canadian yield, this is the kind of unmanageable problem we shall encounter here, once we guarantee the farmer a fixed price, financed by the Government, which is to say the taxpayer. At the same time the Canadian farmer must face the prospect of acreage limitation.

Having agreed to buy his crop at a minimum price, the Government, here as in the United States, will certainly try to place a rough maximum on production. The American farmers accept this form of regulation and no doubt the Canadian farmers will do the same.

Yet all these complex attempts to repeal or smooth out the law of supply and demand have failed south of the border, the Government has a quite unmanageable surplus problem on its hands and can think of nothing better than a system of dumping which only exports that problem to other wheat-growing nations.

Rush in Blind

ONE OF THE DEVICES AS OLD as oratory is the rhetorical question inviting the answer "no." The Greeks used it. So does Councillor Passmore of Saanich. Or so it would seem from the phrasing of a question he intends to lay before the council.

He has given notice that he will ask for a vote from the ratepayers on the proposition: "Are you in favor of amalgamation?" The question is premature. Few of the ratepayers in Saanich or in any other part of Greater Victoria are in a position to give an informed answer.

They have not had the benefit of adequate study on the matter.

The councillor's intent is obvious. It is to avert the proposal advanced by Reeve Arthur Ash who has called for an expression of opinion by Sa-nich residents on the desirability of fully investigating the subject of amalgamation applied to the urban region of Saanich and the city. The reeve wants his people to know something about the advantages or disadvantages of union. That is the sensible course to take.

Councillor Passmore is figuratively urging the voters of Saanich to accept the role of blindfold swimmers invited to dive into a pool which may be full or may be empty.

In simple fact he is calling for a vote based on sentiment or prejudice rather than one based on reason. Only when the facts are known to them, through study of the issue and an understandable report, can Saanich residents be prepared for the question Councillor Passmore asks.

No Longer Smooth Sailing

FROM WASHINGTON

By WALTER LIPPMANN

Zhukov's Old Fairy Tale

OF the "many long discussions about our respective doctrines," which he had with Marshal Zhukov some twelve years ago, one point in particular seems to stand out in the President's mind. The Soviet commander had asserted that Communism is "idealistic" whereas our doctrine is "materialistic." The President remembers that he "was very hard put to it" to reply. Judging by his remarks at the press conference last week, he still feels that he did not win the argument by a knockout.

Lippmann

The two soldiers were agreed, we learn, that a system is idealistic if its ideal is that people should "believe that their greatest satisfaction in life is in sacrificing for the state, giving to the state." Theirs, it would seem, "not to make reply, theirs not to reason why, theirs but to do and die."

With this military definition of the ideal society, Gen. Eisenhower was bound to be in trouble about the comparative idealism of Communism and liberal democracy. This was especially the case when, in describing our own society, he accepted the view of Marshal Zhukov that "a man can earn what he pleases, save what he pleases, buy what he pleases." No wonder the argument of the two soldiers was, as the President said last week, "very tough." Both of them were hazy not only as to what were their "respective doctrines" but as to what was in fact the character of their two societies.

Politically Naive

As we see him through the President's recollections, Marshal Zhukov was then a veteran professional soldier but a new, raw, and very naive amateur in the Communist Party. He had found it easy and convenient to live and die obeying the orders of the rulers of the state. Bravely, he assured the American general that Stalin did not "force" the contribution of the people to the state. Stalin was "teaching a people to support that contribution."

This, argued the Marshal, was very idealistic. It was more idealistic than any other social system. Is it not idealistic to give, like a soldier, everything to the state? And is it not very idealistic of Stalin to teach people to enjoy being so idealistic?

Had someone, who was versed in Leninism, been present at these discussions, he would have pointed out that the word "teaching" covered the whole vast apparatus of the so-called dictatorship of the proletariat. The earlier Marxists, those before Lenin, had believed that there would be a brief and regrettable, but necessary, period of dictatorship for the purpose of socializing the means of production. But then human nature would become re-educated to selflessness by the new institution of socialist property. After that there would be no more need of coercion, and the state would wither away.

But years before he seized power, Lenin had shed the idealistic illusions of the earlier Marxists. He did not pretend to believe that human nature could soon be changed. Communism, he taught, could not be carried on without what was virtually a permanent dictatorship. Lenin, who was quite truly the founder of Soviet Communism, was a harsh and implacable realist. He would have had only scorn for the two tender-minded generals in search of idealism.

And so, no doubt sincerely but most naively, Marshal Zhukov was telling Gen. Eisenhower an old fairy tale. It was the tale of an ideal condition of selflessness, of a community of the regenerate, which for thousands of years has been the dream of many religious communities, among them the early Christians. The dream is entirely unrelated to the realities of the Soviet state, or to the teachings of Lenin, who is its prophet.

State for Good of Man

In the liberal democratic order the ideal is not that the highest good is to sacrifice for the state. The state exists for the good of man. The highest political good is that the sacrifice must be justified to the people of the community, that it must be explained, debated, assented to, and that there shall be an audit and a reckoning after the sacrifice has been made.

It is not true, as Marshal Zhukov said, that the liberal democratic order permits everyone to "do anything." Gen. Eisenhower should have had no difficulty replying to that. For all our economic activities take place within an environment of laws and customs which regulate them. Men, women and children work within the laws of property and within the labor laws. They can build only within the zoning laws. They can save and they can spend only within the tax laws.

We live within a system of laws and not in a state of anarchy. The ideal of our system, which we approximate but never wholly achieve, is that this system of laws shall never be arbitrary, and that because it is debatable it will, within the limits of human frailty, be reasonable and aim at justice. THE LAST POSSESSION

The existence of the English Association is not, as you might imagine, evidence that the English worm has at last turned against the aggressive nationalism of the Scots and Irish and Welsh. No, it refers to practically the only thing that the Englishman is allowed to call his own: that is to say, his language.

Remedy for Tar

In last Monday's Times you published an article on wild canaries being caught in liquid tar at Cobble Hill, mistaking it for water.

It was not necessary to let them all die, as I had a similar experience with a garden snake which I value for the good they do in my garden.

I put the helpless snake in a pan of warmed chicken fat (any kind of liquid fat, slightly warmed would do) and after wriggling around a few minutes in the pan, he made off.

Next day he was out sunning himself none the worse for his experience. (MRS.) D. A. FARMER,

Delinquency

We all opine the cure for adult or juvenile delinquency is upliftment. Like unto climbing a mountain, the higher you go the more rarified you are until the old drops beneath and you are above. In this way we enter the kingdom of righteousness.

What we are inclined to do is mix our levels and bring pain to both, for neither can function on the plane of the other. This applies all down the line. We have delinquency in our heyday and in poverty and want. And the cure that we would bring about is ever one to taunt! However, there's a remedy on which we all agree. A proper dose of faith and hope and endless charity. ALAN L. GREIG.

He Presumes Too Much

I should like to cast my vote for "Sister Dinah." If there's a space left on the "mourner's bench" please save me a seat.

Anyone who possesses as incisive, coherent and sophisticated a style as Miss Kerr is not unacquainted with education or the arts. Mr. Gosley presumes too much when he argues that her "youth" and "lack of theatrical background" prevent her from being able to discern good theatre from bad. I don't think that Miss Kerr is so ignorant of the "theatre" per se, as she is aware of the difference between good and bad taste.

Mr. Gosley's community spirit is to be commended; but even if his show does not "pretend to be anything more than a small town group" it is still no excuse for mediocrity.

Good entertainment served with some spiced ham is one thing. But the "Smile Show" was simply . . . (G)hossley! A. H.

Trade With Britain

Your criticism of Mr. Diefenbaker's laudable desire to reduce Canada's trade deficit with the United States by transferring 15 per cent of such purchases to Britain, may yet place you in the role of a "false prophet." I would suggest that you withhold such predictions, for surely you have not yet forgotten that Mr. Diefenbaker won the recent election in spite of the predictions of your editorial writers that such a victory "could not be achieved."

Since assuming office Mr. Diefenbaker has been an outstanding figure, at home and abroad, and will undoubtedly leave behind him a record of achievement of which Canada might well be proud. Under his inspired leadership there will be a more sympathetic attitude in his dealings with Britain and other Commonwealth countries.

I would point out that about one half of the Commonwealth's trade, which in turn is about one-third the world total, is "within the family." Sad to relate, however, in 1954 Canada's trade with other Commonwealth countries only amounted to 18 per cent, the smallest percentage of any other member, whereas the United Kingdom's amounted to 48 per cent, Australia 60 per cent, New Zealand 77 per cent, etc. Surely if Canada is to take her rightful place in the Commonwealth Mr. Diefenbaker is on solid ground in seeking increased trade and closer co-operation between all members of the Commonwealth.

It is well to remember that Britain already purchases from Canada far more than we buy from her and if we are to increase our sales to the United Kingdom we must reciprocate by purchasing more British goods. As you know Britain lives by international trade and therefore is an advocate of "free" trade. Over one-half of Britain's imports from the dollar area are free from restriction. JAMES LUTTMAN,

Victoria Love Affair

Enchanting, lovely city! How often will I dream
Of your exquisite setting, the golden lights that gleam
Across your jeweled harbor from buildings stately, wide.
The charm of English gardens, and wooded countryside.

And I'll remember the rare delight
Of a concert heard on a summer night
Where the Butchart blossoms, fragile, fair,
Scented with sweetness the evening air.

And where else in these days of mechanized pleasure
Could one recapture that other-day treasure
Of hilarious fun and spontaneous wit
That mark Jerry Gosley's sparkling wit?
So much beauty . . . too brief its glow,
Let me hold it closely, before I go. . . HELEN BEARD,

Hands Across the Border

Before leaving your delightful Island, may I express our great pleasure and satisfaction in the holiday we have enjoyed in your midst.

Coming from Santa Barbara, one of California's finest cities, in climate and scenery, comparisons we need not make. Suffice it to say that a holiday on Vancouver Island is a complete change. We spent one week in Victoria with a friend from Los Angeles who comes up each summer. Enjoyed a service at the United Church and took in the sights about the city and Butchart Gardens and then drove up to Qualicum Beach, with its far-reaching crescent shore line, fringed with cabins and fishing resorts, the bay dotted with boats, occasionally a graceful yacht or de luxe cruiser.

Finding a delightful stopping place, near the village and little United Church, we put down our stakes for a most enjoyable fortnight.

A drive up to Campbell River and over to Alberni, and picnics at the two nearby parks, with their cataracts and deep gorges and unspoiled forests, as well as outings on the water, have given variety most pleasurable.

I had the privilege of addressing the local Rotary Club, and attended the United Church services, with the fine stained glass window and organ, memorial gifts of Mr. Welsh, in memory of his mother and Mrs. Welsh. From the lips of Rev. Moses we heard a fine sermon.

We were interested in viewing the lodge where the Princess and her consort were entertained some years ago. And, of course, also pleased to read that they are coming to Canada for the opening of the parliament on your Thanksgiving day, Oct. 14.

We south of the border are to have a visit from the Royal family in connection with ceremonies at Jamestown, Virginia, which will mark the founding in 1607 of the first English settlement, in what is now the United States. Her visit will also mark the 350th anniversary of the overseas commonwealth.

We in the United States will be made happy by their visit. Our Presbyterian minister from Santa Barbara is exchanging for the month of August, with the minister of the United Church of your city. In every possible way we shake hands across the border with one another.

"For we are two empires by the sea,
Two nations grand and free."

Too Soft With Juveniles?

From Maclean's Magazine

THE Chiefs of Police in two major Canadian cities, alarmed by increases in juvenile crime, have made a drastic and controversial suggestion to the courts: that juveniles be treated like adults; publish their names in newspapers alongside their crimes; lower the age (it varies according to provinces) at which they can be punished as adults are punished.

The suggestion was triggered by a former top official of the RCMP, M. F. E. Anthony, now Edmonton's chief of police. "The time has come to name names," he said recently. "After the first offence name of any juvenile miscreant over 12 should be used. The first thing parents worry about is, 'Will his name get in the papers?' They're not so much worried about a fine as disgrace to the family. Let them face disgrace."

Not long after, Vancouver's chief George Archer plunged in right behind Anthony. "Young hoodlums should appear in court with no holds barred," he said. "Their names should be published in the papers with the names of their parents."

Are these the views of the country at large? In some respects they are, but not entirely. Here's a Maclean's survey of legal, child-welfare and judicial opinion, taken across Canada.

Judge Elliot Hudson, Halifax Juvenile Court: "Publicizing the misdeeds of juveniles can do nothing but aggravate the problem. . . . What is needed is more people who can give children the care and treatment they need."

George W. Hill, QC, crown prosecutor, Montreal: "There is a strong tendency to be too lenient toward juveniles. They are pampered. They become spoiled. It is time we tightened up our procedures."

Charlotte Whitton, ex-mayor, Ottawa: "We are keeping young boys and girls at school too long and not giving them either discipline or work. The whole procedure of treating juvenile delinquents is due for an overhaul. But the biggest problem is part-time parents who are running a home on the road."

Daniel Coughlan, Ontario Probation Officer: "Let's teach the real purpose of our penal system—reformation, not punishment. Anyone who says, 'publish the names of juveniles,' is thinking of punishment."

Police Chief Robert Taft, Winnipeg: "Parents of decent children are entitled to know the conduct of their children's associates. I'd appreciate reading in the papers if my teenage boy or girl were running around with juveniles who were in police trouble."

Marjory Bernard, Regina Family Service Bureau: "If you bring out their names in court you give children a bad name in their neighborhood. That's no way to start correction."

Probation Officer Gordon Stevens, Vancouver: "Don't throw children in with hardened criminals. Let's increase the number of institutions to which a magistrate can send boys for correction."

ADDITION TO SAANICH MUNICIPAL HALL
WHITTAKER AND WAGG ARCHITECTS, VICTORIA, B.C.

NEW TOURIST GUIDE BOOKLET PLAN OF CENTENNIAL GROUP

A special guide to places to stay and eat in Victoria will be compiled by a sub-committee of the Greater Victoria centennial committee for the aid of visitors next year.

The goal is to guarantee accommodation for every tourist who comes to this area during B.C.'s 100th birthday celebrations.

Some 500,000 copies of the booklet will be printed for distribution.

Besides motels, hotels, tourist apartments and restaurants, the committee will also gather a list of private homes that will be available to handle any overflow.

Council Given Sketch of New Saanich Hall

Saanich council got its first look at sketch plans of a proposed new $225,000 municipal hall expansion Thursday night.

Special three-man building committee, plus Reeve Arthur Ash and other members of council, met architects Whittaker and Wagg and were presented with specifications, sketch and blueprints.

Next step will be to receive tenders as advertised this week and include a referendum on financing the project at a by-election Aug. 17.

Closing date for tenders is Aug. 15 at 5 p.m. Council decided Monday to call tenders before the referendum is presented in order that ratepayers may have a more definite cost figure before voting.

Meanwhile councillors are toying with the idea of holding public meetings to describe the by-law referendum and having an open house "tea party" at the municipal hall to demonstrate acute need of expanded facilities.

Part of the parking area has yet to be obtained through negotiation with the school board, which owns adjoining property.

Total floor area of the addition was given as about 11,100 square feet, or 5,580 on each floor. The layout as planned is "elastic," Mr. Wagg said, indicating the building could be converted or further altered in future.

Lower floor would also contain council committee rooms, heating, ventilating and toilet facilities. The second floor would have a staff room, private offices, machine rooms and storage space.

The entire existing structure would be converted to offices and workrooms for the engineering department, building and plumbing inspectors.

The latter two are now in space at number one fire hall on Douglas, as is the welfare office, which will remain there because it is closer to the centre of urban Saanich.

Sole "fancy" feature of the proposed 39 by 30 feet council chamber, which could seat about 50 persons during a council meeting, would be Philippine mahogany panelling.

Coun. Leslie Passmore inquired how much cheaper a frame-stucco building would be. Henry Whittaker said about 20 per cent, but the building would require redesigning in order to provide more fire-proof vault space.

Heads of departments are to be asked for their recommendations for furnishings they would consider necessary if the hall is approved.

Reeve Arthur Ash said the public should know "all the facts" regarding cost, including furnishings.

Coun. Ainslie Worthington suggested an open house to show "appalling conditions" at the present hall.

"What are we going to give them (taxpayers) to get them out here?" asked Coun. George Austin.

"Well give them an insight," suggested Coun. Joseph Casey, committee chairman.

Coun. Eugene Diespecker moved ratepayers' associations be asked if they would call meetings at which members of the building committee could explain the need for a hall extension and how money would be transferred from reverted lands tax sale and revenue surplus funds.

Machines Cut Farm Populace
ROME (AP) — A steady trend from muscles to machines to do farm work has enabled fewer workers to produce more food a man. The latest Food and Agriculture Organization yearbook said today 63 per cent of the world population was engaged in agriculture in 1937 but by 1950 the figure was down to 59 per cent. The decrease has continued proportionately since 1950, the yearbook said.

Stolen Cash Lost At Poker Session

VANCOUVER—A car salesman who stole $716 from his Vancouver employer and lost it in a New Westminster poker game, pleaded guilty on a theft charge in police court Thursday.

Robert Duncan McFadyen, 23, of New Westminster, was remanded to July 31 for sentence by Magistrate Gordon Scott.

Prosecutor Al Mackoff said McFadyen sold two cars July 3 for Stonehouse Motors, took the money to a private club in New Westminster and bought $900 worth of poker chips.

"Evidently he was showing off to his friends."

He said McFadyen told police he meant to play "just one hand" and quit.

Defence Council John Macey told the court McFadyen's first hand was "tens back to back" but he lost and continued to play to recover his loss.

"By the time he finally quit he was down $716."

"Tens back to back must be a very unfortunate hand to hold," said Magistrate Scott. "People who steal money never seem to win."

EATON BURIED

VANCOUVER — Gerald Eaton, hanged 10 days ago for the murder of Carolynne Moore, 8, was buried Thursday.

A brief graveside service was conducted by Rev. Donald MacQueen, rector of St. Peter's Anglican Church.

DRUG ADDICT JAILED

VANCOUVER — A self-confessed drug addict was jailed Thursday for 18 months for possession of a capsule of heroin and two bottles of "goof-ball" pills he said he was using to try to "kick" his drug addiction.

George Sorenson, 44, pleaded guilty to possession of the heroin and two bottles of methadone pills, a drug used by addicts to relieve suffering when attempting to break the heroin habit.

He was given 18-month concurrent terms on the two charges.

RABIES PROBE

VANCOUVER—Dr. F. W. R. Smith, federal district veterinarian, said Thursday his department is conducting a province-wide rabies investigation.

He said it has asked for reports on all incidents of "irrational behavior" in animals. Specimens from the animals will be forwarded to Vancouver for pathological examinations for rabies. Tests are now being carried out on bat and kitten specimens.

COUPLE FLEE FLAMES

Mrs. James McClure awoke to find flames spreading towards her bed from the living room. She awakened the boy and helped him out the window, then followed herself.

SPARKEY LEARNS HARD WAY

VANCOUVER (CP)—A cocker spaniel pup called Sparkey has learned the hard way not to chase smaller dogs.

Sparkey was doing just that when his diminutive quarry had a flash of doggy intuition and darted through a 20-foot-long piece of piping in front of the home of Sparkey's owner, Daniel Boone.

Two and a half hours later an SPCA inspector managed to ease Sparkey out of the pipe with the help of a pole and can of grease.

'Rotary Anns' Not Recognized By International, Club Hears

Rotary International doesn't officially recognize its better half — the Rotary Anns — and doesn't plan to, Ernest Heybroek said Thursday.

Mr. Heybroek was reporting to Victoria Rotary on the organization's recent international convention at Lucerne, Switzerland which he attended as a delegate.

The question of equal standing for the ladies, many of whom hold important positions in industry, came before the convention.

The official answer was "Rotary International has no such action under consideration."

"And that finishes that," Mr. Heybroek said.

Almost 10,000 Rotarians attended the Lucerne convention, coming from all parts of the world, he said. Although English is the official Rotary International language, speeches were translated into English, French, German and Italian.

Operators of Gas Stations Refused Control of Hours

Gasoline and service station operators Thursday lost their battle to maintain some measure of control over the closing hours of their premises.

A proposed by-law supported by 85.3 per cent of city's licensed dealers asking that all

RECEIVING BLESSING from Pope Pius is Richard Skelton, 9, son of comedian Red Skelton, during a brief stopover on a blitz world tour. Dying of leukemia, the comedian wants to show his son as much of the world as possible. Today they have attended a bullfight in Spain.

Bull Dedicated To Doomed Boy

BARCELONA, Spain (AP)—Bullfight fans gave Richard Skelton a standing ovation in the Monumental Arena Thursday. Matador Antonio Bienvenida dedicated his first bull to the stricken boy traveller.

Richard and his father, mother and sister Valentina had front seats for the bullfight, their first, and stayed to the end.

service stations be given the choice of closing at 6 p.m. or staying open on a 24-hour basis was killed by city council sitting in committee.

A tie vote killed the by-law following a public hearing.

The by-law would have forced dealers to choose between the 6 p.m. closure or the 24-hour-a-day operation. It followed that the majority of dealers would have closed at 6 p.m. as they have for years, leaving a few who so desire to remain open in the evening.

Failure of the by-law to get a majority vote will leave service stations free, as they have been since July 1, to open and close as they please.

The by-law was opposed by two major oil companies, the Standard Oil Company of B.C., and the Imperial Oil, as well as a few licensed dealers. They asked that dealers be allowed to close their premises when they want.

D. M. Gordon, representing the Automotive Retailers' Association, said the station operators were not really free agents, but to some extent under the control of the gas and oil companies which were interested in having as many stations open in the evening at the expense of the operators.

T. E. H. Ellis, Vancouver lawyer, representing Imperial Oil, took exception to this. He said his company agents were "certainly free agents."

GIVE BACK DAD'S GIFT GIRL SWIMMER ORDERED

LONDON (Reuters)—The amateur status of a 12-year-old school girl swimmer was threatened today because her father gave her a £1 cash gift for winning a race.

The St. James Ladies' Swimming Club informed school girl Carol Francis that she could no longer swim for the club or consider herself an amateur unless she gave the money back to her father.

Club secretary, Frances M. Fuller, served the ultimatum in a letter to Carol's father, Frederick Francis. He had given her the gift openly for winning a backstroke race at a youth competition.

Francis described the decision as "harsh, fantastic and ludicrous." He said he will fight it.

Arrows Wrap Up Title for Gorge

It's official, now, and none of which is becoming hotter each of the teams in the senior A soft-ball league can do anything about it.

Gorge Hotel has first place all to itself until next year. It's a mathematical certainty.

This happy situation (for Gorge) came about Thursday as second-place Halfway House, needing wins in all their remaining games to tie Gorge even if the Hotelmen lost all theirs, went down to defeat at the hands of third-place Arrow Furniture, 7-3.

Now Gorge can sit back and throw monkey wrenches into the battle for second place.

NEW YORK (AP)—Ezzard flattened him when you get that heavyweight king, says "it won't be easy" for Floyd Patterson to beat Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson in his first defense. Charles ought to know because Hurricane whipped him twice.

Charles, now retired, arrived in town for Monday's title fight at the Polo Grounds while the two boxers were nearing the end of their training camp. The champ remained a solid 1-to-5 favorite.

Still puzzled about his two 1955 defeats by Jackson, the former champ tried to analyze the Hurricane's style.

Buffalo Crew Takes Big One

PORT DALHOUSIE, Ont. (CP)—The host St. Catharines club captured two big events at the Royal Canadian Henley Regatta Thursday, moving out in front for club honors in the four-day event. But the biggest high school event of the regatta went to St. Joseph's of Buffalo for the second straight year.

St. Joseph's nosed out Blessed Sacrament of New Rochelle, N.Y., by only four feet in a stirring eight-oared race for the Calder Cleland Memorial Trophy. The other four boats in the event were within three lengths of the winner.

St. Catharines captured two junior events—135 and 155 pounds—to take a 20th-point lead at the end of the second day of the 75th renewal of the regatta.

Time's running out and, as such, it would seem that Saturday shapes up as a good day for New Westminster Salmonbellies and Nanaimo Timbermen to start settling claims on second place in the Intercity Lacrosse League.

With each team having only five games left on the schedule, Saturday's New Westminster-Timbermen meeting in Nanaimo could go a long way in deciding a second-place finisher.

The hot-and-cold Salmonbellies moved into the spot Thursday evening a point ahead of Nanaimo, with a decidedly impressive 18-5 conquest of the front-running Victoria Shamrocks in New Westminster.

Jake Proctor's Salmonbellies could do no wrong. Victoria, without the services of scoring leader Jack Bionda and Jack Howse, went down to their worst beating in several seasons.

Bob Raffle and Doug McRory, each with three goals and Bill Jobb and Bern Wilkie each with two led New Westminster. Jack Byford also counted three assists.

Don Sherry, with two, Ed Kowalyk, Pee Wee Bradshaw and Bert Bertioa replied for the Shamrocks.

NO ALIBIS

Victoria coach Whitey Severson refused to offer any alibis apart from a minor reference to injuries that have riddled his line-up—and paid New Westminster full dues for their victory.

"They played wonderfully. We kept up to them for one period and then they just ran away. Actually, I think that my old complaint about playing two nights in a row could be brought up again. They caught us on the rebound after a tough game Wednesday," said Severson.

The injury list received another addition when Al Gill suffered an injury in the third period. Severson is "hoping" Bionda and Gill will both be available for Victoria's next game on Wednesday.

He also added that he will "definitely" bring in veteran Bob Bremner for the Wednesday clash against Nanaimo.

Junior Rocks Scuttle Tugs

Junior Shamrocks, happily defeating all competition in the Senior B Lacrosse League, picked on runner-up Island Tug Thursday, 8-2, at Stevenson Park.

Tugmen didn't score a goal until the third quarter as Junior Rocks built up a 5-0 lead.

LIONS EXPECT 20,000 FANS TO SEE STAMPS

VANCOUVER (CP)—Directors of the B.C. Lions Football Club Thursday were predicting a crowd of "not less than 20,000" for Saturday's exhibition game with the Calgary Stampede at Empire Stadium.

They said 25,000 are expected if the weather is good. A city ticket bureau said tickets are selling "much better than usual."

Victoria Polyettes of the Northwest Women's Major Softball League have a new look.

Fans will have difficulty recognizing them when they take to the field Saturday in the first game of a three-game series with Portland Whirlwinds.

With Ruth Oster, pitching stalwart, out for at least a month with torn ligaments in her ankle, and with catcher Lorna Pollock—and substitute catcher Thelma Carey also sidelined, coach John Oster is having trouble filling his vacancies.

Helping fill the gap will be Lee Crothers, who will return from Calgary to play third base. Babe Moseley will move to first in the switch.

Right-fielder Mickey Miller will again appear in the line-up and Flo Dadds (Pickering) will also be in uniform.

Game time Saturday is 6:45 and Sunday's contests will be played at 2 and 4. All games will be at Central Park.

Bakers Down Tudor House

Brodie's Bakery defeated Tudor House, 10-4, in a Senior B Softball game at Heywood Park Thursday to move within two games of second place.

Jack Girard and Mike Clegg combined to toss a one-hitter for Brodie's. Big blow for the Bakers was Bill Harris' two-run homer.

Curfew Rang Too Soon... Keeps Cards Out of Lead

Birds Only Three Points Back After Clipping Dodgers, 3-2

By Associated Press

Curfews are okay for keeping the kids off the streets, but the Sunday baseball one in Pennsylvania is keeping St. Louis Cardinals out of first place in that National League scramble.

As it is, the Cards are second, three percentage points and a half game behind Milwaukee. They slipped past Brooklyn Dodgers 3-2 Thursday night after the Braves were beaten 5-3 by Philadelphia.

But if the Redbirds, finally fattening up at home, could count Sunday's second game at Pittsburgh—which they led 11-2 in the ninth inning when the 6 p.m. curfew sounded—they'd be out front by two percentage points. They will complete that game Aug. 27.

In other games, Cincinnati Redlegs whipped Pittsburgh 9-1 and New York Giants defeated Chicago Cubs 5-2 with Mike McCormick, a $65,000 bonus kid, winning his first in the majors.

NEWK LOSES ANOTHER

The Cardinals, who have won nine of their last 10 at home, laid the wood to Don Newcombe to break a 2-2 tie in the eighth on singles by Al Dark and Stan Musial and a sacrifice fly by Wally Moon. Newk now is 9-8 after last season's 27-7 record.

Right-hander Herm Wehmeier ended a jinx while limiting the Dodgers to six hits, striking out six and walking three for a 4-4 record. It was his first complete game since opening day and his first against Brooklyn since 1954.

The Phillies, winning only three of the last 10, took two of three at Milwaukee as Robin Roberts shook off his worst slump ever—a string of seven losses since June 6.

HANK HITS No. 30

Hank Aaron belted his 30th home run and Red Schoendienst extended his hitting streak to 22 games with single for the Braves, who had a run home and two on with two out when Dick Farrell relieved Roberts in the ninth. Ed Bouchee drove in three runs to help beat Warren Spahn.

Art Fowler, quitting the bullpen for his second start, gained a 2-0 record with seven-hitter for Cincinnati in his first complete game since last Aug. 15. The veteran right-hander also singled for two runs in the second against Loser Ron Kline. Ed Bailey and Gus Bell homered in Cincinnati's 11th hit total.

DONOVAN BEATS YANKS

Dick Donovan, 29-year-old right-handed pitcher for Chicago White Sox, could be pardoned if he approached the ninth inning with trepidation Thursday night. Twice this year he had been shelled from the mound by New York Yankees for eight frames, but this time he mowed them down and emerged a 6-2 victor.

In other American League games, Boston swept their three-game set with Kansas City by winning 5-3. Washington nipped Cleveland 3-2 in 10 innings and Baltimore split Detroit 3-0.

Donovan's four-hit performance gave the White Sox the rubber game of the series at Yankee Stadium and reduced the New York margin to 3½ games over the second-placers from Chicago.

Donovan gave up two runs in the seventh, then retired the last nine Yankees in order. He also contributed a home run to the eight-hit assault on Bobby Shantz, who lost his third, and Art Dittmar. Jim Landis, with two hits, ignited the first two run-scoring sessions for the White Sox.

England Reaches 223 To Take Cricket Lead

West Indies, all out for 142 runs Thursday, watched helplessly today as England scored 223 runs for four wickets on the second day of the fourth test cricket match at Leeds.

While Peter Richardson and Tom Graveney were out early, Peter May and Colin Cowdrey made a partnership of 94. May was caught at the wicket for 69, but Cowdrey had reached 59 and Rev. H. Shepherd, 31.

West Indies owe the bulk of their troubles to English bowler Peter Loader, who blitzed them by taking six wickets for only 36 runs.

Loader did the rare feat of taking three wickets with three straight balls. His three balls—three wicket score was the first in a test match since Tom Goddard did it for England against South Africa in 1938.

At the close of play England had scored 11 runs for one wicket. England is one up with two draws in the best-of-five series.

TRICKS BATSMEN

Loader, a pace bowler playing in his first game for England this year, tricked the batsmen with his change of pace. Rohan Kanhai with 47 runs and Clyde Walcott with 38 runs were the top West Indies batsmen.

The last five West Indies wickets fell for three runs; with four to successive balls—one by Freddie Trueman and Loader's three.

Trueman started the collapse with two wickets in one over. Then Loader bowled John Goddard, had Sonny Ramadhin

BABE RUTH TOURNEY

Mainland Clubs In Semifinals

Penticton and Youbou followed Powell River and New Westminster, receiving early tickets home Thursday night after losing opening game in the Provincial Babe Ruth Baseball Tournament at Royal Athletic Park.

Penticton ran afoul of East Vancouver Optimists in the early Thursday game and suffered a 7-3 setback while Youbou tangled with a buzz-saw in Vancouver Moose and was shredded 18-0.

Pitching for the winners was outstanding. Optimists' Larry Shannon twirled out a three-hitter for the win, striking out 10 and

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then Ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngsters who ask the first question answered each day receive a 20-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Allan Lapon, age 13, of Brighton, Mass., for his question:

What is a moa?

Once upon a time there were moa birds living in the world. But they are no longer with us. We do not even have a photograph of one of them. For all the moa birds had gone long before cameras were invented. In fact, no one thought to make a sketch or paint a portrait from a moa while they were still living. From fragments and remains, however, experts have been able to assemble an idea of what these extinct birds were like. Artists have used this information to reconstruct pictures of the moa.

The home of the ancient moas was New Zealand. They were plentiful on both islands in assorted varieties. There were small moas, no bigger than turkeys. There was a 12-foot, 500 pound giant moa and an array of cousins of sizes between. They were heavy birds and none of them could fly. One of their remote relatives who did manage to survive in New Zealand is the strange Kiwi bird.

The moas were cousins to the ostrich, largest of the living birds. All of them resembled the ostrich in appearance, though the giant moa was five feet taller than the biggest ostrich and outweighed him by 200 pounds. Like the ostrich, the moas were beautiful plumage. But whereas the ostrich has a bare scrawny neck, the neck of the moa was clothed in feathers like long, silky fur. From his long powerful legs, we can guess that the moa was a swift runner and maybe a powerful kicker. If an ostrich can kick like mule, a moa could kick like two mules.

All this information has been gathered from bones, feathers, feet, bills and bits of skin which the departing moas left behind them. Experts have dated the age of these sad remains and tell us when the last of the big birds perished from the earth. Some say the moas were wiped out by the moais who arrived in New Zealand from Polynesia about 1000 years ago. But there is evidence that this may not be quite true.

The experts are sure that the moa was gone from the northern island at least 500 to 700 years ago. In fact, the big fellow may have disappeared even longer before this. In this case, he had gone long before human beings arrived to settle the northern island.

On the southern island they lasted much longer. There is no doubt that the Maoris took a disastrous toll of the big, flightless birds and sped them on their way. For they were heavy, meat birds. Until the arrival of man they had no natural enemies. Hence they had learned no skills for defending themselves and were helpless against man's weapons. They provided the Maoris with easy meat and gorgeous feathers for many generations.

The last of the moa birds perished from the earth about 200 years ago. This was before modern scientists, more interested in studying nature than in destroying her, arrived to make notes in New Zealand. There are no moa birds in the world today. Nor will there ever be moa birds again. For when any special creature fails to survive, nature never repeats him.

Andy sends a Hammond's World Atlas to Jack Slay, age 12, of Fort Worth, Texas, for his question:

Where do clouds go?

Clouds always seem to be going somewhere and so they are. These gobs of filmy mist are light enough to stay aloft in the air and the air is always on the move. The clouds must go where the breezes take them. You can always tell which way the wind is blowing above the earth at cloud level. It is blowing in the direction in which the clouds are travelling.

The life of a cloud is full of adventure, though it cannot go on forever. A cloud begins when the sun evaporates water from the world below. It begins as vapor and rises until it gets into misty droplets in the cooler air above the earth. For a while it rides like a magic carpet on the wind.

Gradually, however, it sinks and sinks. For its droplets get larger and finally turn into drops too large to stay aloft. Sooner or later, every cloud must return to the ground. It may fall as rain, sleet, snow or hail. The travelling days are over and the cloud can go only down, down to the earth from which it came.

BOY SCOUT ACTIVITIES

Victoria District Notes — Sooke troop: at the regular meeting held on Tuesday evening Keith Reeves was presented with his Campers, Dispatch Riders and Pathfinders badge. He also was awarded the Queen's Scout badge, the highest award for proficiency that a Scout can obtain.

Windsor Park "B" Pack — The last meeting of the season was held at the Willows Beach, where building designs in the sand and collecting sea shells was carried out.

Members of the Third and Chinese troops are taking on a pioneer job over the weekend; they have undertaken to erect a large gateway at the Saanich Division, Girl Guide camp site at Elk Lake.

In 1910 B-P wrote an article on patrol leaders, which might be asked today when scouts are found to be dropping away from the troop.

He said: "Some scoutmasters are still behind the times, and consequently their troops are behind average, in not making sufficient use of their patrol leaders."

They ought to give the sub-officers as much liberty of action as they like to get themselves from their district commissioners. They must hold the patrol leader responsible for everything good or bad that occurs in his patrol.

They must put responsibility upon him, let him do his job, and if he makes mistakes let him do so, and show him afterwards where he went wrong. In this way he can learn.

Half the value of our training is to be got by putting responsibility on young shoulders. It is especially valuable for training the wilder spirits; it gives them something which they like to take up instead of their equally heroic but less desirable hooligan pursuits."

4 Conciliation Boards Announced On B.C. Mainland

ADS INVADE RADIO

Capitalist, Red Ways Aren't Poles Apart

WARSAW (AP)—The press and the state radio of Communist Poland are going commercial. It is part of an effort to combine communism with capitalist business methods.

Newspaper ads cover a wide range.

"Learn to dance," the Soliszewski brothers advertise in The Evening Express. "Latest additions—rock 'n' roll, calypso."

"For sale—English—tailored dinner jacket, used twice."

"You'll buy or sell a house most profitably through Realmo, a government agency."

A marriage bureau asks if any girls would like "serious proposals from cultured Americans aged 30 to 35."

The Express and the morning newspaper Zycie Warszawy carry two pages of ads in an average eight-page issue. A year ago they had less than half a page.

The state radio wants to get into the advertising business and expects to begin making with the commercials by Aug. 1.

DISK JOCKEYS, TOO

Commercially have been given a tryout over the provincial station at Szczecin and the plan now is ready for the national network. As a beginning commercial plugs will be limited to a daily one-hour disk jockey program.

The state radio hopes to get ads—and hard currency—from Western firms whose products are trickling into Poland.

As a money-maker, the radio also is commercializing its daily request hour. This hour carries greetings to young Wladyslaw in the army from mom, pop and all

Billy Graham Fails As Court 'Evangelist'

NEW YORK (UP)—Billy Graham went to court Thursday to help a former liquor salesman who is accused of taking up a $491 collection for himself at Graham's Yankee Stadium rally, but the man coldly rebuffed the evangelist and walked away.

"Don't want any charity," said Louis Silvers, 46, after he posted $2,500 bail on grand larceny charges.

Graham, whose gigantic rally drew 100,000 persons last Saturday, met Silvers outside the court building. He reached out his hand to Silvers and said, "I forgive you."

"I want to invite you to the meeting tonight," Graham said. "It's an experience you ought not to miss for yourself."

Silvers, accused of passing the hat at the rally while posing as a Graham usher, and then trying to bribe the policeman who caught him, pulled his hand free.

"I'm in enough trouble already," he said. "My wife is sick and I need a job."

"We will help you get a job," Graham said. "If you need money we can help."

"Don't want any charity," Silvers said again, with increasing irritation.

"God will forgive you if you humble yourself and come with me and find God," Graham continued undaunted. "What you need is to be brought closer to God. This didn't happen by accident. It was the will of God to bring you closer to Him. This will show you a new life."

"I didn't do anything wrong," Silvers mumbled, then walked away.

Silvers pleaded not guilty to the charges. He said someone had given him a bag of money and asked him to deliver it.

"I couldn't properly talk with him, because of the circumstances," Graham said, later.

Silvers did not show up at Graham's rally last night, and

CAREER SWITCH

Canadian Garageman Now Star in Britain

LONDON (CP) — Three years ago Montrealer Roland Brand—alias Roland Leitch—was a lonely bachelor servicing cars in a London garage.

Since then he's switched to the acting profession, appeared in several feature films and got himself engaged to a British ballet dancer, Sally Bradley.

"Things have certainly changed for the better," says Brand, 27. He's happy to report that agents now are calling him instead of the reverse procedure. "And it's mighty comforting," says the tough-looking six-footer, who once "barked" his way around Switzerland with a circus.

He was discovered by a film producer in a London garage and got his first break as a "secret service agent" in Little Red Monkey, starring Richard Conte.

Since then, he's played in such films as Reach for the Sky, starring Kenneth More; Campbell's Kingdom, with Dirk Bogarde, and Time Lock with Lee Patterson and Robert Beatty, both Canadians.

For his own satisfaction, Brand prefers to play a "villain or a good guy—just as long as the character draws sympathy." To date he's been fairly lucky and played a variety of types including bad and good guys.

Aside from taking dramatic lessons Brand is as serious about his hobby as he is about his career. A regular judo artist, he recently got his "blue belt" in two months, which is two belts away from a "black belt."

"It's good exercise for the physique," he explains, "and keeps my weight down."

HUMBER'S

Liberals Urged To 'Revitalize'

Party Must Be Established Stronger On Riding Level, Fraser Tells Rally

Necessity for quick and competent revitalization of the Liberal Party in British Columbia and throughout Canada was the keynote of an address Thursday by Alistair Fraser, defeated federal Esquimalt-Saanich candidate and just named the party's chief B.C. organizer.

The meeting, attended by 150 was the first local Liberal gathering since the June 10 elections which brought the Progressive Conservatives into power. Party headquarters on Government Street were filled.

Mr. Fraser was openly critical of the Liberal party behavior in relation to election activities.

He said: Since the election the party had existed in a "vacuum" and was still in a "state of shock."

The national party organization had not functioned as strongly as it could have.

Since the election six weeks ago the Liberal party had "done nothing except get out of office."

The party in the past had been "overconfident," he said.

The party did not provide the voting public with sufficient information on election issues.

In recent years the Liberals have had a lack of goals.

There was a strong necessity to establish Liberalism on the constituency level, as opposed to the federal scene.

Liberal leaders "assumed" they would be returned to office.

"Now," he told the audience, "it is vitally necessary to reorganize. This reverse should stimulate our activities."

Must Drive for 3 By-Elections

He added that the party was deeply concerned with the state of provincial politics and organization, "with particular emphasis on the three by-elections which will undoubtedly be held before the end of this year."

Mr. Fraser said there was a necessity to organize Liberal women's groups and younger Liberals, stating that the "younger Progressive Conservatives" did an excellent job in the recent election.

Liberalism must realize, he went on, that a "razzle-dazzle" political campaign was today a part of the Canadian conception of politics, perhaps as a consequence of United States proceedings.

The PCs had used this, while the Liberals had not, he said.

Emphatically Mr. Fraser stated that the Liberal government of 22 years had been the best Canada had ever seen. On charges it had been an "old man's" government, he said that 60 ministers had come and gone during tenure, and only two had survived since the 1935 election.

On the lack of "goals," he said that depressions and wars had in the past provided political targets, but with the high success of today in many spheres, this was no longer a pulling factor.

"Today we have achieved so much it is difficult to find something else to achieve."

But this ties in with the new concept of Liberalism which, he said, "must find new horizons."

Other speakers at the Liberal rally were defeated federal candidate and former Liberal MP Dr. Frank Fairley, Oak Bay MLA Archie Gibbs, former cabinet minister and ambassador to Japan, Robert Mayhew; Ald. Hugh Ramsay, and Victoria MLA George Gregory.

Said Mr. Mayhew: "When the proper time comes, we again will be the government of Canada."

He pointed out that "you can't win an election on history"; that it is a temporary transitory appeal which can help catch votes.

City Council To Reconsider Evening Meets

City council will reconsider its decision against holding evening meetings.

Council Thursday decided to take a new look at the proposal after hearing a Victoria Labor Council brief advocating that meetings be held in the evenings instead of afternoons.

The council earlier this year rejected the suggestion.

Submitting the brief on behalf of the labor council, Percy Rayment, secretary, said that afternoon meetings was preventing a large section of Victoria's citizens from taking part in civic affairs.

He also said many people would like to attend council meetings but could not do so because they were held during working hours.

Ald. Hugh Ramsay strongly championed the labor group's proposal.

"I see no reason why this proposal should be rejected," he said.

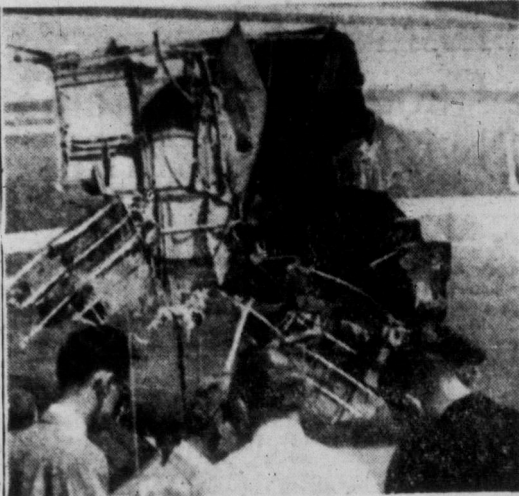

Mayor Percy Scurrell said several years ago council had given evening meetings a trial but the public had shown no interest in attending.

"Times have changed," said Ald. Don Smith. "An increasing number of delegations are appearing before council and there is no reason why they should give up their time and wages to do so."

Ald. G. I. Edgelow and Ald. Austin Curtis felt that evening meetings were not practical.

Doctors Fight For Boy's Life

BAYONNE, France (Reuters)—Doctors fought throughout the night to save the life of 14-month-old Pascal, only son of French screen star Daniel Gelin, who collapsed after swallowing anti-influenza pills. Pascal ate the pills while his nurse was out of the room in the star's holiday villa in nearby Biarritz.

BLOWN THROUGH THIS HOLE of a Western Airlines plane Thursday was passenger S. F. Binstock during the flight over California desert. Believed to be a suicide case, the explosion—first thought to be pressure blast caused by his bullets—is still being probed.

Rehabilitation Sought By 6,100 in Poland

WARSAW (Reuters)—A total of 6,100 persons sentenced for political crimes have applied for rehabilitation, the Polish news agency Pap said today. It added that sentences in 1,900 of 4,400 cases considered have been quashed or reduced.

Suicide-Murder Blast Claims Three Lives

PITTSBURGH (AP)—An explosives expert blasted himself and his estranged wife to death in their parked auto Thursday night. The horrifying explosion also claimed the life of an eight-year-old girl happily licking an ice cream bar.

Seven other passersby were injured in the blast which rocked the northside business section.

The dead are Arthur DePew, his wife, Elaine, 18, and Linda Kraus.

Linda's 11-year-old sister, Joan Kraus, who was hurled through a window of a nearby store, suffered multiple lacerations.

The children's grandfather, Frank Panza, 55, suffered a hip laceration. He and Joan were the only persons admitted to a hospital and officials said both are expected to recover.

Flying glass from shattered business windows injured the passersby. Plate-glass windows of a restaurant were knocked in but no one in the restaurant was hurt.

City Would Buy Gov't House Land

City council will ask the provincial government if it can purchase a portion of the Government House property for residential and park purposes.

The proposal, endorsed by council Thursday, calls for the purchase of the southerly portion of the Government House property which has never been developed and left in its natural and wild state.

Ald. Elmer McEwen in a motion noted that the property held by the government comprises 38.5 acres but only half of it, the northerly portion, has been used.

He said the southerly portion was an eyesore.

It was also preventing much needed road extensions and connections.

The southerly portion would make a desirable residential subdivision as well as a park, he said.

Vote List May Jump By 10,000

Aldermen Forecast Increase Under Relaxed Regulations

Two city aldermen estimated today that 10,000 more Victoria citizens will cast ballots in the municipal elections this December.

Aldermen Hugh Ramsay and Donald Smith said easing qualifications in the new Municipal Act could boost the number of names on the voters' list from 20,779 to 30,000.

Only requirements now are that a person be 21, and a British subject who has been a resident for six months.

Restrictions such as unpaid road and poll taxes which formerly eliminated a citizen from voting have been removed.

"It's going to make a big difference," Ald. Smith said.

OTHER CHANGES

There are some other changes to the act. It calls for the re-registration of all voters, except property owners.

In addition, the registration period has been advanced from October to August and September.

This means that starting on Aug. 1, householders, licensees and spouses will have to begin to register at the City Hall, regardless of whether their names were on the voters' list last year. Failure to do so will mean they will have no vote.

Frank Hunter, city clerk, said names on last year's voters' list will not be carried over to this year's list.

"The only exception is property owners," he said. All others will have two months to register.

In anticipation of increased voters list, the city has accepted an offer by Victoria's corner grocers to register voters for the city voters' list.

The Independent Merchants' Co-operative Association offered the service in view of the large increase in registration anticipated because of the reduction of qualifications.

MONTE ROBERTS

It is a well-known fact that the average person will do anything rather than admit he witnessed an accident.

People who witness accidents (and admit same) are apt to be called into court to testify for or against those who are involved in the accident.

And being called into court is a long and boring procedure.

Thus most people look the other way when an accident is going on, and, if asked, say they know nothing whatsoever about anything.

This is why I was so happy to hear of the recent experience of Mr. X, a very prominent Victoria businessman.

Mr. X. is the owner of a large moving and storage company.

And the other day, one of the trucks owned by the company was involved in an accident with a private car.

Well, you can believe this or not, but the very next morning after the accident, a gentleman telephoned Mr. X.

"I saw that accident yesterday," said the gentleman.

"You did?" said Mr. X.

"Yes," said the caller. "I saw it, and I'm here to tell you, it wasn't the truck's fault."

"It wasn't?" said Mr. X.

"It certainly wasn't," said the caller. "It was the fault of that stupid woman driving the car."

"Why," said the caller, "she was a mile off base. I would be only too happy," said the caller, "to go into court and testify that this woman was in the wrong."

"But," said Mr. X.

"Oh, I know you're going to say you don't want to put me to the trouble," said the caller, "but it would be a pleasure. I'd like to make sure that woman driver gets what's coming to her."

With a weary sigh, Mr. X. interrupted.

"Thanks anyway, old man," he said. "But the trouble is, the woman driver happens to be my sister."

TOPICS OF THE DAY

International Sourdough Convention will be held in Seattle August 29 to September 1 at the Olympic Hotel.

About 100 Canadian sourdoughs, those who walked the gold trail of 1898 to the Klondike, are expected to attend.

Amputee Mark Knisley, 869 Parklands, leaves Saturday for Leithbridge to attend ceremonies sponsored by the RCAF Association honoring legless ace Group Captain Douglas Bader of Battle of Britain fame.

Invitations were issued war amputees and ex-prisoners of war interned in Germany with Bader.

Mr. Knisley lost his left leg above the knee when the bomber he was piloting was shot down in the Middle East.

Esther Holmes Jones, accredited representative at the United Nations for the Friends (Quakers) General Conference, will speak in Victoria Sunday night.

She will give a talk, illustrated with slides, on work of the U.N. specialized agencies around the world at the Friends Meeting House, 1831 Fern, at 8 p.m.

Island Art Expert Off To UBC Talk

A three-day arts conference sponsored by the Community Arts Council of Vancouver, to be held at the University of British Columbia August 15, 16 and 17, will be attended by representatives from all parts of B.C. and Vancouver Island.

Representing Victoria will be Art Gallery curator Colin D. Graham, Miss Violet E. Ashdown and Miss Anne Adamson. This is the first time in Canada that a province-wide conference of leaders in the fields of arts and crafts has been held. It is expected that the conference will provide a comprehensive and factual picture of the state of the arts in B.C.

Dean G. C. Andrew of UBC has been named honorary chairman and will deliver the keynote address at the first session.

Sessions are divided up into music, drama and visual arts. Music sessions will be chaired by Mrs. Walter Hauschka, with Dr. Ida Halpern, Jean Coulthard Adams, Audrey Piggott, Shepherd Munn and Lloyd Powell participating.

Dorothy Somerset, Joy Coghill and Sydney Risk will jointly chair drama sessions, while Gordon Adaskin will direct the visual arts program, assisted by Robert Davidson, William Reid and Frank Perry.

ST. ANN NUNS RENEW VOWS

Bishop James Hill, top, presided at ceremonies marking Feast of St. Ann today at which four nuns, all with Order of St. Ann more than half century, rededicated themselves to Christ.

Bottom, left to right, are jubilarians, Sisters Mary Peter, Mary Colette, Mary Mildred and Mary Esther. Lovely ceremony was in St. Ann's Academy chapel. Chapel was filled with habited figures.

4 Jubilarians of St. Ann Renew Vows After 50 Years

By TONY DICKASON

They represent more than two centuries of service to God and the community.

These are the four jubilarians of the Order of the Sisters of St. Ann, which operate St. Ann's Academy and St. Joseph's Hospital here, who today marked from 50 to 60 years self-sacrificing service.

They renewed their sacred vows, candles in hand, appropriately on the Feast of St. Ann, mother of the Virgin Mary.

It was the 100th time the feast has been marked here by the sisters, pioneer nuns of the northwest. The nuns came here in 1858, primarily to found mission schools.

Sister Mary Peter, Sister Mary Mildred, Sister Mary Colette have been members of the community 60 years; Sister Mary Esther, 50 years. Father Oswald, a Franciscan friar, celebrated mass marking the feast day, at which Most Rev. James Hill, Roman Catholic bishop of Victoria presided.

The entire observance was beautiful, reverent, and colorful.

Chapel Crowded

Nuns, clergy and visitors filled the vaulted, sun-blessed chapel in St. Ann's Academy. Nun-nurses were there clad in white habits; others were in the traditional black. The sanctuary was bedecked with flowers, yellow in color, catching the sun's rays.

Background during the mass—the celebrant was in classic golden Gothic vestments—were the controlled pure voices of the nun choir, in ageless Gregorian.

Bishop Hill after mass spoke to the assembly. In tones of utmost sincerity he called the jubilarians "revered and beloved."

"God claims in you a vision that pleases him. It is not I, but you yourselves that speak to us today. You are more eloquent in your silence than 1,000 orators."

In the pew ahead of us, a nun quietly told her worn beads.

Christ's yoke is sweet, said His Excellency, and in the calling of the nuns "is transformed by divine alchemy into the richest blessings."

High Renunciation

The jubilarians spiritual daughters of St. Ann, were surrounded by nuns that in number overflowed onto the choir loft steps, and into the hall outside the chapel.

The veterans in Christ's service renewed their vows individually, symbolic candles in hand. Voices were firm.

Rev. John Hennessey spoke during the mass. His deep remarks pertained to the jubilarians: With a nun, the highest order of renunciation is called for. The vocation is heart-versus-egoism.

It is the highest calling when a soul seeks God and God alone in a spiritual, espousal.

You can say in very truth Christ becomes the man in her life.

The world finds it hard to understand supernatural love. Desires of the human heart are never satisfied except in one thing, until resting in God. Nuns realize this, he stated.

Stolen Blankets Bring City Man 3 Months' Jail

George Lee, 27, of 759 Queens, was sentenced in city police court today to three months in Oakalla prison for being in possession of stolen goods.

Blankets stolen from parked tourist cars were found in his possession June 20.

Earlier Cyril Morgan, 429 Belleville, pleaded guilty to the theft. The blankets were passed on to Lee "and he didn't have the sense or the courage to deal with it," Magistrate H. C. Hall said.

"He must take the consequences."

TRAFFIC FINES

In city police court today: Kenneth John Powell, 4481 Markham, $15 for unnecessary use of his car horn.

Jack D. Bradbury, 943 Esquimalt Road, $10 for parking his car on a boulevard.

APPOINTMENT as commanding officer of the Canadian joint air training centre at Rivers, Man., was announced by the RCAF today for Group Capt. Richard O. Shaw, of Victoria. It had been previously announced Group Capt. Shaw would command the RCAF station at Chatham, N.B. His appointment to Rivers is effective this month.

Stolen Money Brings Jail For City Man

Douglas Cameron, 805 Intervale, charged with being in possession of stolen money was sentenced today in city police court to six months' definite and six months' indeterminate in Oakalla prison's young offender's unit.

Earlier, he pleaded guilty to the charge after an original charge of robbery with violence of an Esquimalt man July 8 was withdrawn.

With two other companions, Cameron had accepted a ride to the department of transport wharf on Harbor Road the night of July 8. Charges were laid by the driver Donald William Carson, 618 Grenville, who complained of being beaten and robbed of his car and wallet containing $110.

The car and wallet, minus the money, were found the next morning.

Sentence was ordered by Magistrate H. C. Hall, who said:

"I think this young man is badly in need of discipline."

Paul G. Cook, 24-year-old sailor, was sentenced Thursday to one year definite and a year less one day indefinite in the young offender's unit at Oakalla. He pleaded guilty to a charge of robbery with violence in connection with the same incident.

Also charged with robbery and violence is Donald Quate, 130 Linden. He has elected trial by judge and jury.

Children's Fate Up to Parents Of Freedomites

Must Guarantee School—Bennett

Premier Bennett said today it's up to the parents of Freedomite Doukhobor children detained at New Denver whether they will be released.

"The solution is easy," the premier said in an interview. "It is in the hands of the parents."

By satisfying the courts that their children will be sent to public schools, the parents could bring about their permanent release, Mr. Bennett said.

"We don't want the expense of separate schools," he said.

The premier added that the "great majority" of B.C. Doukhobors are co-operating fully with the province's laws.

Some 89 children from the 2,500-member Sons of Freedom Sect now are detained at the New Denver institution. Some attend public schools in the community and return to the barbed wire-enclosed former sanatorium after classes.

MANY CONFORM

Attorney-General Bonner said today that the government's policy of apprehending children whose parents refused to send them to school has had the effect of causing many other members of the radical sect to conform.

The attorney-general said there have been "very few" children released from New Denver because their parents had subsequently agreed to send them to public schools.

"They could have left the school at any time," Mr. Bonner said. "As a matter of fact, we would have been most happy to have that occur."

INQUEST ADJOURNED

Meanwhile, at Krestova an inquest into the death of a Doukhobor woman found dead at her home was adjourned Thursday until Tuesday night.

A coroner's jury viewed the body of Mrs. Mary Gienger, 32, found hanging from a beam Wednesday night.

Earlier, Sons of Freedom Doukhobors had blamed her death on the fact that her nine-year-old daughter is being detained at New Denver.

The coroner's jury said they did not see any letter from the daughter; it had been reported Wednesday that a letter had been found which said: "Mommy, I am lonesome for you... come and visit me... I love you. Goodbye."

Funeral services for the woman will be held Sunday, and many Freedomites are expected to attend.

THEY DON'T LAST FOREVER

Kapok Life Preservers Need Periodic Testing

By DON INGHAM

Parents sending their children off to the beach wearing a kapok life jacket "for safety's sake" should give the jacket a thorough test.

It might be worse than useless.

Victoria store officials who sell life jackets, and the RCMP, pointed out today that the life preservers do not last forever.

I talked to several dealers and policemen on the subject after a Victoria mother came to the Times and explained how one of her children suddenly discovered a jacket was useless. It was one in which the family had put considerable faith at various times, and which proved to be no more buoyant than a rock when tested in a pool by one of the children who could swim.

Also charged with robbery and violence is Donald Quate, 130 Linden. He has elected trial by judge and jury.

TIME MARCHES ON

F. W. Francis Ltd., jewelry firm moving from 1210 to 1684 Douglas, also is moving huge sidewalk clock that has been landmark at first address for 37 years. Hugh Francis, store manager, said move on truck could not harm sturdy old English-built clock, which will be keeping time for "another 100 years." (Times Photo.)

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

13-Year-Old (37-23-37) Is Teased By Boys

Q—"I am 13 and in the seventh grade. To me I have a very serious problem. In school the boys have nicknamed me 'Sexy.' I do not wear sweaters but I do wear tight skirts. I am very mature for my age. I am 5 feet 3 inches tall and weigh 115 pounds. My bust measures 37, waist 23 and hips 37 inches.

"I do not use foul language and do not have a dirty mind. Please help me get rid of this nickname. I have ignored it and it has done no good. I have also tried going along with it saying 'I know it. Isn't it disgusting?' It just doesn't work."

A—"You do have an unusual figure for any age and especially for your age. I guess you will just have to pay the penalty now for what you will be glad to have later on. Boys your age often show poor taste teasing about such personal matters. I think that if you will just keep on ignoring the taunts, with a smile and a shrug of the shoulders, they may finally stop. Also, perhaps, you should not wear your skirts so tight.

Q—"My problem is that some of the teenage girls in my neighborhood (including myself) are overweight and find it hard to diet alone. I would like to form a club for reducing. My mother says, 'No, it is foolish.' We have the room and facilities for a club but she says 'No!' Would you please write an article on this and give me an answer in the Question Box? I am very anxious to know what you think of this."

A—"I think most mothers who have overweight daughters would be extremely pleased. I think it is a wonderful idea! In most cases the mothers have to struggle and the daughters cooperate in only a half-hearted way.

HOWEVER, I imagine your mother's objection stems from the fear that you would diet unscientifically and injure your health. Why not organize an exercise club? Diet also, but each of you should do so under the supervision of your family doctor. Group effort makes it so much easier, and really fun. I can send you some leaflets with general directions. If you wish to have them send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request.

Q—"My eyebrows are simply wild. They are not so very thick but they are long and will not stay in place. What can I do?"

A—"Put a little petroleum

Get Out the Jars Again —Apricot Time Is Here

By PENNY SAVER

Apricot time is here! Now that you've had a few days' breathing spell after making the raspberry jam, you can get out the canning equipment again and get started on the apricots. Nothing will taste better for winter desserts.

A case of apricots is $1.79 this weekend. You'll likely want to buy a few extra for eating fresh—you'll find them as low as 29 cents a pound.

Big, juicy-looking peaches are 29 cents for a half dozen.

The berry season is nearly over, and prices are up this weekend. Raspberries are 25c a hallock, as are boysens. Blueberries are still 39 cents.

O'Lallie berries are something new to me. They're a cross between a wild blackberry and a loganberry, and look very tasty. You'll find them at 25 cents a hallock.

Wild blackberries make delicious pies, and if you don't enjoy getting all scratched up picking your own, you can buy two hallocks of them for 49 cents.

There's the usual mid-summer scarcity of good eating apples, but you'll find small transparent apples at three pounds for a quarter.

Grapes are good to take along on a picnic, and add a nice touch to a fresh fruit salad. Cardinal grapes are 25 cents a pound, and of corn-on-the-cob on the market. Three cobs will cost you 29 cents. Local peas are selling at two pounds for 55 cents.

Red cabbage adds color and crispness to a salad. It's 31 cents for two pounds.

Canada's Dr. Rutnam Chairs Ceylon Day at Conference

By Stella Gummow

COLOMBO, Ceylon.

Ceylon Day of the Associated Countrywomen of the World conference was most impressive! Traditional Kandy dancers and the beat of drums heralded arrival of the premier; decorations included split coconut palm leaves made into bowl-like shapes that held torches. Greetings were given by representatives of 28 countries following greetings of the nine provinces of Ceylon. Each representative carried a banner and took places behind the chairman.

The Prime Minister gave his greetings and his tribute to our Canadian Dr. Mary Rutnam, who chaired this meeting. He called her the "mother of the Lanka Mahila Samiti." (She organized this group on the lines of the Canadian Women's Institutes.)

"Dr. Rutnam is now 84 years old, but she chaired the meeting well. In a few words she gave credit to both the Tamil and the Sinhalese, and as there is a strong undercurrent between these two races which we can all detect, we were proud of her words. Nancy Adams, president of Canadian Federated Women's Institutes, gave greetings for Canada.

"We had a Ceylon luncheon. The food was wrapped in a banana leaf and then in waxed paper. There was rice and boiled egg and other things we did not recognize, all served with a very hot relish. We needed the glasses of water which we were assured was boiled. (We are given 'safe' water to drink at the hotel and a thermos of 'safe' water each night.)

"We have to be careful not to eat raw vegetables or fruit that cannot be peeled, although the shops along the street are piled high with attractive vegetables and fruit. We are enjoying the pineapples and the bananas, which are smaller than we get at home.

"In the evening of Ceylon Day we saw a wonderful ballet depicting the story of Lanka, done by Ceylon girls and the Kandy dancers.

"Last night we were entertained in the beautiful indoor court of a Canadian married to a Sinhalese and it was a fairytale with colored lights on the trees and flowering shrubs. "At the Governor's mansion the other evening colored lights lined the cascading roots of an enormous banyan tree in the garden.

"We have been lavishly entertained by Hindu women, the Buddhists, and at wonderful private homes. Some of the Tamil women we have met have jewels in their nostrils as a sign of rank. They are all beautiful!

"They call this the Island of Paradise and with summer all year around—it will be!"

Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Dillin, 2548 Lincoln Road, announce the engagement of their daughter, Agnes May (Nan), to John Frederick Hill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hill, 797 Scott Road, Royal Oak. The wedding will take place Aug. 31 at 8 p.m. in Gorge Presbyterian Church. (Miss Dillin's photo by Kandik Kamera; Mr. Hill's by Campbell Studio.)

SHE KNOWS WHERE SHE'S GOING

Elfin-Like Sheila MacKinnon Plans To Spend Whole Life on Toe Shoes

By ANNE MAYHEW

"Dancing is my life," says petite 19-year-old Sheila MacKinnon, who is five feet two inches and a mere 93 pounds.

Sheila, wearing a red leotard and red shoes, pointed her toe subconsciously, as she talked. "I live, eat and sleep ballet. Why? Because I love music. I love to act, and I love to dance!"

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas MacKinnon, Townsend Road, started ballet when she was eight, but didn't begin to study seriously until four years ago.

"When I was 13 I sprained both ankles and it was doubtful whether I could ever dance again," said the petite dancer, "but with the help of my teacher, Miss Wynne Shaw, and her encouragement, I was able to make a comeback."

HECTIC LIFE

During the school year, Sheila taught every Saturday, and had about 30 students, from 4 to 15-year-olds. "I always teach the younger ones tap as well as ballet," she told me, "for it is good for rhythm."

When she was attending St. Ann's Academy, her daily schedule was hectic. As soon as school was over, she would go to the studio. Supper would consist of a hastily-eaten sandwich, and then she'd dance till 10 o'clock. A steak before she fell into bed would complete her day.

"There was no time for homework," she remembered with a smile. "Once I put my book of French verbs on the window ledge, and tried to do exercises and study at the same time!"

Sheila MacKinnon . . . dances like a sprite, quick and precise, and has not a little of the comedian in her.

This summer, office-work leaves her little time for ballet. However, she and her partner, Vivian Briggs, who is equally devoted, go to the studio on Saturdays and practice all day.

The two girls are planning to go to the Banff School of Fine Arts for three weeks later in the summer, and will audition for the Winnipeg Ballet in September. "My main goal," said Sheila, "is the National Ballet in Toronto. I would like to stay in Canada, for I feel that there is a future for ballet here. Canadians

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)—Rising early and going to hear inspired religionist expound truths so laboriously learned by great study and meditation, brings the greatest inspiration of your life. P.M. you can meet wonderful new friends.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)—Step out of usual basic activities of too practical nature today and contemplate upon the spiritual things, for here you will get your highest and loftiest idea now. This will widen your vision tremendously.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)—At long last, the person you so admire is willing to let you in on some of the wonderful and unknown facts of which he or she is possessed. Hang upon each word, for they are pearls of great wisdom—grow intellectually and spiritually.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20)—Focusing your attention upon the basic principles of your endeavors, the over-all panorama of work and the vital persons connected with it, will produce great results for the future. Let the pennies take care of themselves today.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN SUNDAY . . .
The fine child born Sunday will never know jealousy and consequently never resort to being small, or saying unkind things. The personality has a natural graciousness and charm that is a source of delight to all who in any way are associated with your progeny, and for this reason your offspring will bask in the sunshine of fame and fortune. 'Smoke-Cured' Colds MD's Cancer Retort

WASHINGTON (UP) — A explained "impressive" statistics showing lung cancer is a predilection for cancer. It fessor scoffed yesterday at more prevalent in cigarette smokers than nonsmokers.

He said he smokes heavily to ward off head colds. The testimony was given by Prof. Harry S. N. Greene, head of the pathology department at Yale medical school, to a House subcommittee, which is studying the effect of filters as protection against possible health hazards from cigarette smoking.

SCARE POOH-POOHEE Greene pooh-poohed the current "scare" over cigarette smoking as a factor in lung cancer. "If I have a cold coming on, smoking in the production of I smoke a lot of cigarettes and cancer of the lung," he said.

Subcommittee chairman John Blatnik asked Greene how he be that people who have a hunger for cigarette smoke have a predilection for cancer. It may be constitutional rather than cause-and-effect.

He said smoking may even be "beneficial" to mankind — "we just don't know." Blatnik commented that the subcommittee had invited Greene to testify at the recommendation of an official of the tobacco industry. Green replied that no one in the tobacco industry had suggested to him that he testify.

MORE POWER IMPORTED FOR ISLAND

NANAIMO (CP)—Power from below the border has been keeping the wheels turning on Vancouver Island this summer, says Ed Marzocco, of B.C. Power Commission department.

For the last two months, about 75-million kilowatt hours of surplus power from Bonneville Dam in Washington has been diverted to the Island while the reservoirs in the Campbell River system were being filled, he said in an interview.

Imported power will probably be cut off about Aug. 15 when the B.C. Power Commission's new 100,000 horsepower thermal unit at Chemainus will be in operation.

Massive Doses Of Salts Ordered For Turbine Fuel

Massive doses of Epsom salts have been "prescribed" by engineers for the bunker C fuel that will power the B.C. Power Commission's gas turbine generating station at Chemainus.

The commission has ordered 700 tons of salts from Commercial Chemicals Ltd. in Vancouver for the sum of $43,000. It will be used to remove vanadium from the oil.

Because of the high speeds, high temperatures, and close tolerances under which the turbines will work, oil fuel must be completely free of impurities of all kinds.

The club ranked third in the district in attendance last month with an average for four meetings of 96.25 per cent.

EIGHT GO TO HOSPITAL AFTER TWO-CAR CRASH

NANAIMO (CP)—Eight persons were taken to hospital Thursday following a two-car collision four miles south of Nanaimo on the Trans-Canada Highway.

A car driven by Mrs. Phyllis Hargreaves of South Wellington was in collision with a vehicle driven by Mrs. Violet Robertson of Pictou, Ont.

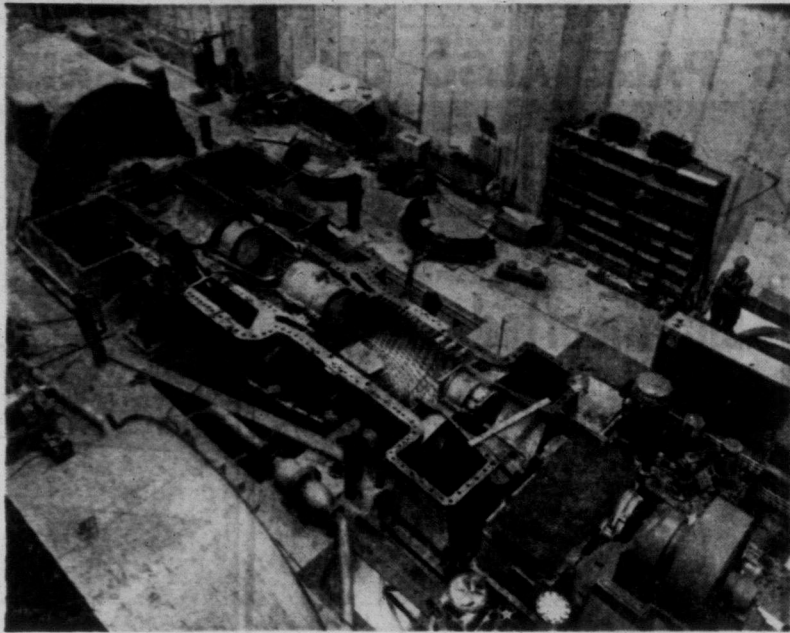

With Mrs. Robertson was her daughter, Mrs. Patricia Garner of South Wellington, and her five children, their ages ranging from one and a half to 13.

All were released from hospital except Mrs. Hargreaves, who was under observation. Police said both cars were wrecked.

PLAYGROUND APPROVED

PENDER ISLAND — B.C. Centennial Committee in Victoria has approved construction of a suitable centennial project, and Aug. 16, 1958, as the date for the local celebration of a children's playground.

The playground will be on an acre of land, part of a 50-acre tract on Canal Road that will be developed by the provincial government as a campsite and tourist park. The land was donated by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Prior.

More Unemployed Listed on Island

NANAIMO (CP)—J. Clark, National Employment Service manager here, says there are more persons registered as unemployed than at the same time a year ago, partly because a number of students are registered for temporary employment.

The demand for loggers has not picked up following settlement of a woodworkers' pay dispute. Some 100 loggers had been laid off at Crown Zellerbach's Ladysmith operations on July 12, due to a reduced logging program. Another 350 stopped work for annual vacations, but will be back on the job Aug. 5.

POWER BACK BUT NOT HERON

COURTENAY — A blue heron with a six-foot wing span blacked out St. Joseph's Hospital and HMCS Quadra, naval training base, in Courtenay when it flew into 13,000 volt power lines supplying the two establishments. Power was restored, but not the heron.

Nanaimo Empire Day Links With Centenary

NANAIMO—Empire Day will be observed next year in conjunction with celebrations to mark the B.C. Centenary, it was reported this week at a meeting of the Empire Day committee with city council.

The annual parade may be held on a Saturday instead of Monday, and loggers' sports, dropped from the program this year, may be staged on Newcastle Island.

A loss of $1,876 on celebrations this year was blamed by committee chairman Frank Ney on adverse weather. The deficit, $100 less than that of last year, will be made up by city council.

Market Lull Cuts Mill Crew

CHEMAINUS — Minor readjustments of planer mill and loading shed crews at MacMillan and Bloedel Ltd., Chemainus Division, have resulted in a reduction of 20 men.

Company officials said that the readjustments and layoffs were brought about by a "current lull in the rail market."

When openings occur at the sawmill, the men will be rehired on the basis of seniority.

Nanaimo Firm Awarded Job Of Reversing River Course

NANAIMO (CP)—A & B Construction Co., Nanaimo, has been awarded a $380,832 contract to reverse the course of the Heber River, 43 miles west of Campbell River.

Purpose of the job, which is to be finished by Oct. 1, is to add more hydro-electric horsepower to the Vancouver Island network of the B.C. Power Commission.

Water will be conducted by pipe and canal across a 1,200-foot high divide separating the east and west flowing watersheds of the upper Island. It will be fed into the Campbell River watershed, adding millions of gallons a year to the reserves supplying the John Hart and Ladore Falls generating stations.

A six-foot pipe, 2½ miles long, will be run underground from Crest Lake at the head of the Heber River and will drain into Drum Lake. A half-mile long canal from Drum Lake will then drain into the Elk River, which in turn drains into Campbell River.

Present power installations on the Campbell River system are plant, designed to produce 228,000 horsepower at low water, calculated on the basis of the lowest year on record during the past 45 years—that of 1916-17. Diversion of Heber, Salmon and Quinsam Rivers into the system will boost this minimum to 270,000, plus another 31,000 horsepower from the Puntledge plant, which is remotely controlled from the John Hart and Ladore Falls system.

income dollar goes

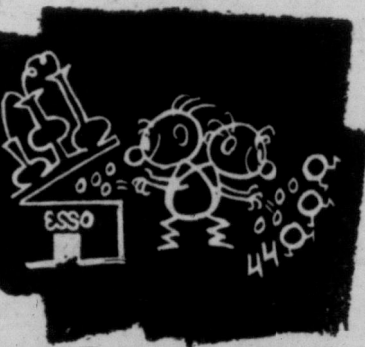

In supplying hundreds of different oil products to Canadian consumers from coast to coast, Imperial last year took in a large number of dollars. What happened to a typical dollar?

Well, nearly 56 cents went to buy raw materials—notably crude oil—and for freight, a big item in a big country.

More than 26 cents went for operating and administrative costs, including wages and salaries, and for depreciation. Ten cents of each dollar went to various governments in taxes (this does not include the provincial gasoline tax).

Half of what was left—or about 4 cents—was put back into the company's operations. The other half was divided among Imperial's 44,000 shareholders, whose investment makes possible the company's existence.

Crash Ends Wild Chase; Boy Dies

Route of Plunge by Death Car

Path of the death car could be traced in tire marks visible on grass at the crest of the bank off Dallas Road where it dove to the beach with four boys in it. In centre photo, taken from the spot the car came to rest, is shown the point at which it left the bank, tearing

through low bushes. The demolished car, landed on its wheels, is shown in the photo at right. If no attempt to turn left at the top of the bank had been made, the car would probably have plunged into the sea, police said. (Times Photos by Strickland.)

Dulles Leaves To Meet John D.

WASHINGTON (UP) — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles flew to Canada today for his all-important, "get-acquainted" visit with Prime Minister John D. Diefenbaker during the weekend.

The visit to Ottawa will be Dulles' first official trip to Canada in almost two years. The meeting was billed as an informal session to give Dulles a chance to get acquainted with Diefenbaker. The Canadian embassy said it considered the meeting "quite important" even though no decisions are expected to be made.

Although no agenda for the Dulles-Diefenbaker talk is set, these subjects could come up: Wheat—Canada, which has a big wheat surplus, is unhappy about the U.S. program of disposing of surplus wheat at cut-rate prices. The Canadians claim the program reduces potential Canadian markets by encouraging foreign buyers to try to get cheap American surplus wheat.

Disarmament—Both Canada and the U.S. are negotiating with Russia at London disarmament talks. The U.S. has suggested that the "open skies" aerial inspection zone might include not only the U.S. but also Canada in exchange for inspection of the Soviet Union.

Exchange of personnel information. This became a hot issue in U.S.-Canadian relations last spring after Herbert Norman, then Canadian Ambassador to Cairo, committed suicide.

Turkeys—Some Americans are unhappy about Canada's recent import restrictions on turkeys and other fowl. Dulles could bring this up.

U.S. Atom Batteries At Canadians' Call

CAMP GAGETOWN, N.B. (CP) atomic weapons are not permitted to be used even by United States allies.

This scheme has reached the point that all Canadian Army tactical planning is based on the assumption that atomic weapons would be available to it. In other words, planning is based around atomic missiles as the chief weapons in the arsenal of the Canadian Army instead of counting on Canadian troops in event of war.

An American missile battery has been detailed to support of the Canadian Army in Canada and another to support of the Canadian infantry brigade group in Europe.

This means in event of war for its major exercise—Eastern Canadian soldiers would have the Star-of summer-long manoeuvres best weapons available. It circumscribes at this camp in south central New Brunswick. More than 10,000 legislation under which American troops will be involved.

RAF Suspends Raids on Oman Rebel Forces

SHARJAH, Arabian Trucial Coast (Reuters)—After three days of cannon and rocket attacks the RAF announced today it is suspending further action against Oman rebels.

The news came shortly after RAF Venom jet fighters attacked a Fort at Tanuf, seven miles north of the rebel Imam of Oman's headquarters at Nizwa.

There was no immediate information about the period of suspension, but observers here thought the attacks have swung some support back to the sultan from tribesmen who rallied recently to the Imam.

The sultan's red flag was seen today flying over the desert fortress of Izki, attacked in the first jet strikes Wednesday.

With no news of any ground activity, it was presumed here that the flag was raised by the occupants of the fort, replacing the white emblem of the Imam which fluttered there as the RAF went into the attack.

Four Venom fighters took off in the first strike today, but one turned back with engine trouble. The other three reported they fired rockets and shells into the centre of the deserted fort.

Defence counsel Edward Clarke said a cheque would be handed over before Adams left the court.

Today's trial was the second one the portly doctor had faced in the last four months.

He was acquitted last April in London's Old Bailey court of charges of drugging to death one of his wealthy patients, an 81-year-old widow, to benefit from her will.

UNIONIST SEEKS ROYAL PROBE OF HOSPITALS

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—A royal commission inquiry into the administration of British Columbia hospitals was demanded today by a top-ranking union official.

W. Black, president of the 100,000-member B.C. Federation of Labor and business manager of the 2,500-member local 180, claims the B.C. Hospital Insurance Service is "in danger of breaking down," and the government is making a profit out of it.

Health Minister Eric Martin retorted that it is "impossible to run it (BCHIS) at a profit . . . or at a loss."

At the same time Mr. Martin said his department had received no request from either Royal Columbian Hospital in New Westminster or St. Paul's Hospital in Vancouver, where nurses' strikes are threatened, to send in a BCHIS investigating team.

"It's a matter between the board and nurses," he said. William Fraser, chief provincial conciliation officer, was scheduled to meet today to try and settle the Royal Columbian dispute.

Following his usual practice, Soviet delegate Valerian Zorin did not immediately accept or reject the proposal. He said it would be studied.

ISTANBUL, Turkey (UP)—The death toll in the crash of a Turkish Air Force jet plane at Bursa rose to 23 today as seven injured persons died in hospitals.

SPANISH, Ont. (CP)—Five children were burned to death here early today as their mother frantically tried to batter her way into her locked, burning home.

Dead are the family of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Trudeau—Melvin, 12; Rudy, 10; Patrick, seven; Lulu, six; and Carl, four.

They were trapped by flames in their one-storey, tar-papered home in this unincorporated community 65 miles west of Sudbury, when flames barred a rear exit.

The fire was believed to have started in a shed attached to the house where Mrs. Trudeau was heating water on a wood stove.

She was carrying water from the nearby home of her father-in-law, who attempted to help her, but was driven back by flames.

Britain Backs U.S. Proposal To Ban Arms

LONDON (AP)—Britain today pledged support for the United States plan to ban outer space weapons.

At the same time she rejected Russia's proposal for prohibiting all forms of rocket warfare.

A British informant said Cmd. Alan Noble told the five-power UN disarmament sub-committee that Britain considers the American proposal should "appropriately" be included in a partial disarmament treaty.

The American proposal, submitted Thursday by Harold E. Stassen, envisaged that a technical committee, within three months after a disarmament accord comes into effect, should design means of ensuring that outer space missiles be developed only for peaceful purposes.

The source said Noble told the five-power United Nations group that Britain could not accept Soviet proposals for banning all forms of guided missiles and rocket armaments.

The actual banning of research on armed missiles would not come until the second stage of disarmament, after scientists had agreed on a system of enforcement.

Following his usual practice, Soviet delegate Valerian Zorin did not immediately accept or reject the proposal. He said it would be studied.

GUNNAR STEBECK
... crash victim

POLICEMAN SAYS:
'They Were Pulling Away From Us'

"I haven't the foggiest idea how fast we were going down Cook," Saanich police Cpl Leslie H. Ledson said today after his spectacular chase of a fleeing car at 4 a.m. today.

"They were pulling away from us. They weren't wasting any time. It was considerably faster than 50 miles an hour."

The car in which Gunnar Stebeck died "disappeared in a cloud of dust" at the top of the bank at Cook and Dallas, apparently after trying to make a left turn onto Dallas, the officer said.

"Some of them were lucky to be alive," he added.

The officer was so busy driving his police car and trying to catch up to the fleeing vehicle containing four teen-agers he said he never looked at the speedometer.

Loses Rank, Command
WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. army today ordered Col. John C. Nickerson, convicted of divulging missile secrets, to a routine job in the Panama Canal Zone. He will be deprived of his privileges of rank and command.

CORKSCREW COMES HIGH
WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate investigators testified today that $128,045 of United Textile Workers funds was "misused" by union officials.

They cited expenditures for lavish theatre parties and costly gifts including a $25.20 corkscrew.

Three of the boys, excepting Ray Murdoch, had been sleeping in a tent in the backyard of the Jackson home Thursday night. They were checked by Mrs.

4 A.M. Fatality Ends Mad Dash of Stolen Car

A spectacular plunge and crash over the Dallas Road waterfront, killing a 13-year-old boy, ended a wild police chase of a stolen car shortly after 4 a.m. today.

Three teenaged companions were seriously hurt when the car rocketed off a 55-foot bank at Cook and Dallas, to wind up on the beach.

The car was being chased by Saanich and city police cars at speeds estimated at over 70 miles an hour, while parents thought all boys were in bed.

Dead is Gunnar Stebeck, 13, 1430 Pembroke, who was pronounced dead on arrival at St. Joseph's Hospital shortly after 4.15 a.m.

The injured are: Barry Jackson, 15, 2604 Roseberry; concussion, left arm and leg injuries, condition at noon improved to good.

Ray Murdoch, 12, 1448 Taunton; concussion, scalp cuts and bruises, condition serious.

James Lott, 13½, 1321 Haullain; internal and head injuries, condition serious following surgery.

The chase and crash were among the most violent ever seen in Victoria.

Police did not know which of the boys was driving. Their parents said they were unaware any of the boys could drive.

1955 Station Wagon a Total Loss
The stolen car, a 1955 station wagon, taken at 3 a.m. from the carport of its owner, Dan MacDonald, West Saanich Road, where steps go down to the beach and skidded sideways on the top of the bank before soaring off.

The car landed upside down on its front end, apparently bounced into the air again and came to rest on gravel and drift logs on its wheels, facing north about 20 feet from the sea.

Cpl. Ledson, unable to bring his car to a safe stop on Dallas because of the high speed, was forced to drive over the curb, causing blowouts on both front wheels of the police car.

He called for ambulances immediately and went to aid the occupants of the wrecked car.

One Boy Partly Thrust Under Log
One boy was found partly thrust under a log, one was partly in and partly out of the car and the other two were within five feet of the car.

Windshield was completely broken out of its frame, one wheel squashed into the frame and fender, the other front wheel torn off, part of the roof ripped open and the steering column crushed into the front seat.

Back seat and the rest of the car were virtually undamaged.

Barry Jackson was taken to St. Joseph's by city police ambulance; Barry Murdoch by Saanich ambulance; James Lott by Oak Bay police ambulance, and the dead boy was taken by city police and naval shore patrol vehicle.

Three of the boys, excepting Ray Murdoch, had been sleeping in a tent in the backyard of the Jackson home Thursday night. They were checked by Mrs.

HUNGARY REDS ADMIT ARREST OF 'PLOTTERS'

VIENNA (UP)—Communist Hungary has arrested "several hundred counter-revolutionaries" in recent weeks to prevent a new rebellion, Budapest radio admitted Thursday night.

LONDON SEES VIOLENCE

Strikers Hurl Bottles, Bricks

LONDON (Reuters)—Bottles and bricks were flung today at police-escorted convoys of fruit and vegetable trucks bringing supplies to London's five strike-bound produce markets.

Violence in the food strike and in another stoppage of 100,000 provincial bus workers was less marked today, however, following a government warning Thursday.

Most quarters predicted a quick end to the week-old bus strike. A government tribunal Thursday proposed an 11-shilling ($1.54 weekly) pay raise for the workers and employers immediately approved it.

This removed tension prevailing in many parts of the country where pickets had tried to halt all road travel and clashed with non-striking drivers.

Extra police guards were placed in the food strike area to guard the convoys of trucks.

The motorized pickets raced down to the farm country and tried to persuade drivers not to bring the produce to market.

Extra police guards the five main London Markets, hit by a strike of 3,500 food handlers, as the truck convoys pulled in.

The bottles and bricks were hurled at a convoy arriving at Spitalfields market. Strikers and their wives shouted, jeered and threw bottles at the loaded trucks.

Acceptance depends, the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers said, on council's agreement to "certain non-cost items."

The wage agreement reached provides for a 10 per cent increase retroactive to last Jan. 1; a three per cent increase effective Oct. 1; four per cent more next Jan. 1; and a final four per cent next July 1. At the end of the two-year period, wages would have been raised 21 per cent. The contract would expire Dec. 31, 1958.

Attendance at the concert this year has gone over the 10,000 mark, which constitutes a record for the four years in which they have been held.

As for that dear old chestnut, "Danny Boy," it has seldom sounded more beautiful.

FAMILIAR PROGRAM A comfortably familiar but worthwhile program had been selected by Hans Gruber, and the orchestra played it with spirit and confidence.

The Tchaikovsky "Swan Lake" ballet suite and Schubert "Unfinished" Symphony were particularly well received. The former proved that even a delicate thread of sound is effective and crystal-clear in this setting with Alan Macey's unique sound equipment.

Spillers of the delicate thread were harpist Lorna Langley, concert master Cora McCartney and leading cellist, Mary Evans.

'Picnic' Crowd Of 3,000 Hear Garden Concert

By AUDREY S.D. JOHNSON

Responding to an appeal to "come early, bring suppers and fill your cars," Butchart Gardens lawns were thickly dotted by 5 p.m. Thursday with large groups of families and friends who defied cool breezes and threatening skies.

Last of this season's garden symphony concert, the occasion attracted a crowd of more than 3,000.

Grandparents, parents, teenagers, toddlers, babies in arms, invalids in wheelchairs, enjoyed the fabulous gardens, but all paid the Victoria Symphony Orchestra and guest star, tenor Charles Edward O'Neill, the tribute of attention and hearty applause they merited.

CHILDREN WONDERFUL "I've never seen such well-behaved children," complimented symphony president Jack Barcalough, in a short speech of thanks to hosts Mr. and Mrs. Ian Ross, musicians and audience. "They're wonderful. Thank you, children."

O'Neill proved not only to have a voice that matched his towering physique, but one that is richly resonant and superb in quality and that is handled with discretion and a genuine musical feeling.

His performance in the "Pagliacci" and "La Boheme" arias suggested an operatic ability which could parallel that of Gigli.

As for that dear old chestnut, "Danny Boy," it has seldom sounded more beautiful.

GRIM ENDING TO SEARCH

WHITE LAKE, Ont. (CP)—The search for a missing airman, Flight Sgt. C. A. W. Larose, 41, came to a grim and sudden end Thursday when his body was found hanging from a tree.

Ontario Provincial Police described Larose's death as suicide, adding that their investigation disclosed the airman purchased some rope in nearby Arnprior last Thursday, the day he vanished.

There were 106 known injured.

Tokyo newspaper correspondents radioed from the flood area on Kyushu Island that at least 1,000 persons died in the city of Isahaya, 15 miles north-east of Nagasaki, and that scores may have perished in Omura, a port a few miles away.

LIKE "NEW SEA" A reporter who flew over the area said Isahaya, a mountain-ringed city of 57,000, looked "like a new sea" with only a few high points and roofs visible above the water.

Railroads were washed out or blocked by landslides. Highways were closed. Thousands of homes were washed away or flooded.

The storm began Thursday morning, let up for a few hours late in the day, and then—in the words of one survivor at Isahaya:

"Suddenly an angry bolt of lightning cut the sky. Pounding thunder followed. Then the rains came. Not just by buckets-full. It seemed like someone had dumped the contents of a lake on us from a giant barrel."

DRIFTING GHOSTS As the rain increased, flood waters began pouring through Isahaya and Yasujiro Tachikawa said he watched "the dim outlines of broken houses and buses drifting by like a procession of ghosts."

Chikara Imasato, 25, the first evacuee brought to Nagasaki, said: "I lived through hell... the flood reached the ceilings of my house in a few moments. Cascading rain mingled with deafening thunder and the screams of the dying. I don't know how I managed to swim in the swirling waters."

Twenty-year-old Miss Yoko Kohori was picked up by a fisherman clinging to a piece of lumber at sea 15 miles from shore.

"I don't remember anything except that the water snatched me away all of a sudden," she told rescuers.

Five men were convicted Thursday night of conspiracy to defraud the Pennsylvania turnpike commission of $19,500,000 by allegedly drilling countless "unnecessary" holes to fill in abandoned mines along the super highway's right-of-way.

Four other men were acquitted in the case that Governor George M. Leader has said involved "the greatest public swindle of all time."

One of the convicted men was former turnpike commission chairman Thomas J. Evans and another was his nephew, Charles W. Stickler Jr., president of a Reading, Pa., engineering firm formed in 1952 with $1,800 capital and worth a stock value four years later of more than $1,080,000.

253 Known Dead Over 800 Missing In Japanese Gale

TOKYO (AP)—A violent storm which in 24 hours dumped 29 inches of rain on low-lying, thickly populated areas of Japan's southernmost major island left at least 253 persons dead today and more than 800 missing or unaccounted for.

Central Saanich police notified Saanich police and at about 4:10 a.m. the stolen station wagon was seen heading for Victoria near Royal Oak.

Up to the time city police car with its flashing red light was encountered at Topaz, speed of the station wagon was only about 40 miles an hour, police said.

When occupants realized they were spotted, speed was increased and the car driven over a boulevard to avoid the city police car.

Mrs. L. Jackson, mother of Barry, after seeing her boy in hospital today said they are very repentant lads.

"They are not bad boys," she said. "They are high-spirited, of course and set out on what they thought was a bit of mischief when their parents believed them in bed."

"It has turned into a tragedy which they only realize now. They have learned a terrible lesson they will never forget."

Mrs. Jackson said her boy has done "very well in the air cadets and he just loves it."

Mrs. Stebeck, a widow of two years, said she had wanted her boy to come home Thursday night when weather turned out cool for sleeping out of doors.

"I can't think," she said today.

Mrs. Stebeck came with her husband and six children—four boys and two girls, with Gunnar the youngest — from Norway four years ago.

An inquest has been ordered for next Tuesday at 10 a.m. at McCall's funeral home.

Stolen Cash Lost At Poker Session

VANCOUVER—A car salesman who stole $716 from his Vancouver employer and lost it in a New Westminster poker game pleaded guilty on a theft charge in police court Thursday.

Robert Duncan McFadyen, 23, of New Westminster, was remanded to July 31 for sentence by Magistrate Gordon Scott.

Prosecutor Al Mackoff said McFadyen sold two cars July 3 for Stonehouse Motors, took the money to a private club in New Westminster and bought $900 worth of poker chips.

"Evidently he was showing off to his friends."

He said McFadyen told police he meant to play "just one hand" and quit.

Defence Council John Macey told the court McFadyen's first hand was "tens back to back" but he lost and continued to play to recover his loss.

"By the time he finally quit he was down $716."

"Tens back to back must be a very unfortunate hand to hold," said Magistrate Scott. "People who steal money never seem to win."

EATON BURIED

VANCOUVER — Gerald Eaton, hanged 10 days ago for the murder of Carolynne Moore, 8, was buried Thursday.

A brief graveside service was conducted by Rev. Donald MacQueen, rector of St. Peter's Anglican Church.

DRUG ADDICT JAILED

VANCOUVER — A self-confessed drug addict was jailed Thursday for 18 months for possession of a capsule of heroin and two bottles of "goof-ball" pills he said he was using to try to "kick" his drug addiction.

George Sorenson, 44, pleaded guilty to possession of the heroin and two bottles of methadone pills, a drug used by addicts to relieve suffering when attempting to break the heroin habit.

He was given 18-month concurrent terms on the two charges.

RABIES PROBE

VANCOUVER—Dr. F. W. B. Smith, federal district veterinarian, said Thursday his department is conducting a province-wide rabies investigation.

He said it has asked for reports on all incidents of "irrational behavior" in animals. Specimens from the animals will be forwarded to Vancouver for pathological examinations for rabies. Tests are now being carried out on bat and kitten specimens.

COUPLE FLEE FLAMES

SPARKEY LEARNS HARD WAY

VANCOUVER (CP)—A cocker spaniel pup called Sparkey has learned the hard way not to chase smaller dogs.

Sparkey was doing just that when his diminutive quarry had a flash of doggy intuition and darted through a 20-foot-long piece of piping in front of the home of Sparkey's owner, Daniel Boone.

Two and a half hours later an SPCA inspector managed to ease Sparkey out of the pipe with the help of a pole and can of grease.

'Rotary Anns' Not Recognized By International, Club Hears

Rotary International doesn't officially recognize its better half — the Rotary Anns — and doesn't plan to, Ernest Heybrook said Thursday.

Mr. Heybrook was reporting to Victoria Rotary on the organization's recent international convention at Lucerne, Switzerland which he attended as a delegate.

The question of equal standing for the ladies, many of whom hold important positions in industry, came before the convention. The official answer was "Rotary International has no such action under consideration."

"And that finishes that," Mr. Heybrook said.

Apricot time is here! Now that you've had a few days' breathing spell after making the raspberry jam, you can get out the canning equipment again and get started on the apricots. Nothing will taste better for winter desserts.

A case of apricots is $1.79 this weekend. You'll likely want to buy a few extra for eating fresh—you'll find them as low as 29 cents a pound.

Big, juicy-looking peaches are 29 cents for a half dozen.

The berry season is nearly over, and prices are up this weekend. Raspberries are 25c a hallock, as are boysens. Blueberries are still 39 cents.

O'Leary berries are something new to me. They're a cross between a wild blackberry and a loganberry, and look very tasty. You'll find them at 25 cents a hallock.

Wild blackberries make delicious pies, and if you don't enjoy getting all scratched up picking your own, you can buy two hallocks of them for 49 cents.

There's the usual mid-summer scarcity of good eating apples, but you'll find small transparent apples at three pounds for a quarter.

Grapes are good to take along on a picnic, and add a nice touch to a fresh fruit salad. Cardinal grapes are 25 cents a pound, and of corn-on-the-cob on the market. Three cobs will cost you 29 cents. Local peas are selling at two pounds for 55 cents.

Red cabbage adds color and crispness to a salad. It's 31 cents for two pounds.

MINT NOUGAT CHEW

The Red and White Chew with the light, lovely flavor of mint. The right chew for the weekend. Regular 80c lb., the weekend, 57c lb.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

13-Year-Old (37-23-37) Is Teased By Boys

Q—"I am 13 and in the seventh grade. To me I have a very serious problem. In school the boys have nicknamed me 'Sexy.' I do not wear sweaters but I do wear tight skirts. I am very mature for my age. I am 5 feet 3 inches tall and weigh 115 pounds. My bust measures 37, waist 23 and hips 37 inches.

"I do not use foul language and do not have a dirty mind. Please help me get rid of this nickname. I have ignored it and it has done no good. I have also tried going along with it saying 'I know it. Isn't it disgusting?' It just doesn't work."

A.—You do have an unusual figure for any age and especially for your age. I guess you will just have to pay the penalty now for what you will be glad to have later on. Boys your age often show poor taste teasing about such personal matters. I think that if you will just keep on ignoring the taunts, with a smile and a shrug of the shoulders, they may finally stop. Also, perhaps, you should not wear your skirts so tight.

Q—"My problem is that some of the teenage girls in my neighborhood (including myself) are overweight and find it hard to diet alone. I would like to form a club for reducing. My mother says, 'No, it is foolish.' We have the room and facilities for a club but she says 'No!' Would you please write an article on this and give me an answer in the Question Box? I am very anxious to know what you think of this."

A.—I think most mothers who have overweight daughters would be extremely pleased. I think it is a wonderful idea! In most cases the mothers have to struggle and the daughters cooperate in only a half-hearted way.

HOWEVER, I imagine your mother's objection stems from the fear that you would diet unscientifically and injure your health. Why not organize an exercise club? Diet also, but each of you should do so under the supervision of your family doctor. Group effort makes it so much easier, and really fun. I can send you some leaflets with general directions. If you wish to have them send a

Q—"My eyebrows are simply wild. They are not so very thick but they are long and will not stay in place. What can I do?"
A.—Put a little petroleum jelly on them. Then use an eyebrow brush and brush UP from the underneath line of the brow. Afterwards level the top line with the brush. This will help keep them in place for the time being and also will train them in better habits.

WILD CAR CHASE; BOY DIES

Route of Plunge by Death Car

Path of the death car could be traced in tire marks visible on grass at the crest of the bank off Dallas Road where it dove to the beach with four boys in it. In centre photo, taken from the spot the car came to rest, is shown the point at which it left the bank, tearing through low bushes. The demolished car, landed on its wheels, is shown in the photo at right. If no attempt to turn left at the top of the bank had been made, the car would probably have plunged into the sea, police said. (Times Photos.)—(See also Page 27.)

Death Sentence Commuted

OTTAWA (CP)—Commutation of a death sentence to life imprisonment for Roland Lefrançois, 26, of St. Charles de Mandeville, Que., was announced today.

The cabinet approved the commutation for Lefrançois, convicted of beating to death 61-year-old deaf mute Joseph Savoie, Aug. 26, 1956.

Frantic Mother Fails
To Save 5 From Flames

SPANISH, Ont. (CP)—Five children were burned to death here early today as their mother frantically tried to batter her way into her locked, burning home.

Dead are the family of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Trudeau—Melvin, 12; Rudy, 10; Patrick, seven; Lulu, six, and Carl, four.

They were trapped by flames in their one-storey, tar-papered home in this unincorporated community 65 miles west of Sudbury, when flames barred a rear entrance and a front door proved to be locked.

The fire was believed to have started in a shed attached to the house where Mrs. Trudeau was heating water on a wood stove. She was carrying water from the nearby home of her father-in-law.

Her screams aroused neighbors who attempted to help her, but were driven back by flames.

Dulles Leaves
To Meet John D.

WASHINGTON (UP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles flew to Canada today for his all-important, "get-acquainted" visit with Prime Minister John D. Diefenbaker during the weekend.

The visit to Ottawa will be Dulles' first official trip to Canada in almost two years.

The meeting was billed as an informal session to give Dulles a chance to get acquainted with Diefenbaker. The Canadian embassy said it considered the meeting "quite important" even though no decisions are expected to be made.

Although no agenda for the Dulles-Diefenbaker talk is set these subjects could come up:

Wheat—Canada, which has a big wheat surplus, is unhappy about the U.S. program of disposing of surplus wheat at captive prices. The Canadians claim the program reduces potential Canadian markets by encouraging foreign buyers to try to get cheap American surplus wheat.

Disarmament—Both Canada and the U.S. are negotiating with Russia at London disarmament talks. The U.S. has suggested that the "open skies" aerial inspection zone might include not only the U.S. but also Canada in exchange for inspection of the Soviet Union.

Exchange of personnel information. This became a hot issue in U.S.-Canadian relations last spring after Herbert Norman, then Canadian Ambassador to Cairo, committed suicide.

Turkeys—Some Americans are unhappy about Canada's recent import restrictions on turkeys and other fowl. Dulles could bring this up.

RAF Suspends
Raids on Oman
Rebel Forces

SHARJAH Arabian, Trucial Coast (Reuters)—After three days of cannon and rocket attacks the RAF announced today it is suspending further action against Oman rebels.

The news came shortly after RAF Venom jet fighters attacked a Fort at Tanuf, seven miles north of the rebel Imam of Oman's headquarters at Nizwa.

There was no immediate information about the period of suspension, but observers here thought the attacks have swung some support back to the sultan from tribesmen who rallied recently to the Imam.

The sultan's red flag was seen today flying over the desert fortress of Izki, attacked in the first jet strikes Wednesday.

PRESUME FLAG RAISED

With no news of any ground activity, it was presumed here that the flag was raised by the occupants of the fort, replacing the white emblem of the Imam, which fluttered there as the RAF went into the attack.

Four Venom fighters took off in the first strike today, but one turned back with engine trouble. The other three reported they fired rockets and shells into the centre of the deserted fort.

UNIONIST SEEKS ROYAL PROBE OF HOSPITALS

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—A royal commission inquiry into the administration of British Columbia hospitals was demanded today by a top-ranking union official.

W. Black, president of the 100,000-member B.C. Federation of Labor and business manager of the 2,500-member local 180, claims the B.C. Hospital Insurance Service is "in danger of breaking down," and the government is making a profit out of it.

Health Minister Eric Martin retorted that it is "impossible to run it (BCHIS) at a profit . . . or at a loss."

At the same time Mr. Martin said his department had received no request from either Royal Columbian Hospital in New Westminster or St. Paul's Hospital in Vancouver, where nurses' strikes are threatened, to send in a BCHIS investigating team.

"It's a matter between the board and nurses," he said. William Fraser, chief provincial conciliation officer, was scheduled to meet today to try and settle the Royal Columbian dispute.

GUNNAR STEBECK
... crash victim

POLICEMAN SAYS:

'They Were Pulling Away From Us'

"I haven't the foggiest idea how fast we were going down Cook," Saanich police Cpl Leslie H. Ledson said today after his spectacular chase of a fleeing car at 4 a.m. today.

"They were pulling away from us. They weren't wasting any time. It was considerably faster than 50 miles an hour."

The car in which Gunnar Stebeck died "disappeared in a cloud of dust" at the top of the bank at Cook and Dallas, apparently after trying to make a left turn onto Dallas, the officer said.

"Some of them were lucky to be alive," he added.

The officer was so busy driving his police car and trying to catch up to the fleeing vehicle containing four teen-agers, he said he never looked at the speedometer.

British PM Backs
Brownell's Plea

LONDON (UP)—British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan today gave full endorsement to U.S. Attorney-General Herbert Brownell's plea for a solid system of international law.

Macmillan told the American Bar Association that Brownell had hit the nail on the head "when he spoke of the search for a means to apply what we have learned of justice between men to the affairs of nations."

3 Others Hurt
After Mad Dash

A spectacular plunge and crash over the Dallas Road waterfront, killing a 13-year-old boy, ended a wild police chase of a stolen car shortly after 4 a.m. today.

Three teenaged companions were seriously hurt when the car rocketed off a 55-foot bank at Cook and Dallas, to wind up on the beach.

The car was being chased by Saanich and city police cars at speeds estimated at over 70 miles an hour, while parents thought all boys were in bed.

Dead is Gunnar Stebeck, 13, 1430 Pembroke, who was pronounced dead on arrival at St. Joseph's Hospital shortly after 4.15 a.m.

The injured are: Barry Jackson, 15, 2604 Roseberry; concussion, left arm and leg injuries, condition at noon improved to good.

Ray Murdoch, 12, 1448 Taunton; concussion, scalp cuts and bruises, condition serious.

James Lott, 13½, 1321 Haul-
tain; internal and head injuries, condition serious following surgery.

The chase and crash were among the most violent ever seen in Victoria.

Police did not know which of the boys was driving. Their parents said they were unaware any of the boys could drive.

1955 Station Wagon a Total Loss

The stolen car, a 1955 station wagon, taken at 3 a.m. from the carport of its owner, Dan Macdonald, West Saanich Road, where steps go down to the Brentwood, was a total loss.

A Saanich police car followed it from near Royal Oak south on Douglas, east on Topaz to The Rise, then south on Cook.

Two city police cars were waiting to intercept the stolen car at Topaz and The Rise and at The Rise and Cook, but the station wagon did not stop.

The Saanich police car, driven by Cpl. Leslie H. Ledson accompanied by Const. Ted Owens, followed about a block behind the fleeing car and tried to overtake it on Cook, but the other auto was "pulling away from us" as it neared Dallas Road.

It went straight across the curb of Dallas, travelled 150 feet across the beach and landed upside down on its front end, apparently bounced into the air again and came to rest on gravel and drift logs on its wheels, facing north about 20 feet from the sea.

Cpl. Ledson, unable to bring his car to a safe stop on Dallas because of the high speed, was forced to drive over the curb, causing blowouts on both front wheels of the police car.

He called for ambulances immediately and went to aid the occupants of the wrecked car.

One Boy Partly Thrust Under Log

One boy was found partly thrust under a log, one was partly in and partly out of the car and the other two were within five feet of the car.

Windshield was completely broken out of its frame, one wheel squashed into the frame and fender, the other front wheel torn off, part of the roof ripped open and the steering column crushed into the front seat.

Three of the boys, excepting Ray Murdoch, had been sleeping

253 Known Dead Over 800 Missing In Japanese Gale

TOKYO (AP)—A violent storm which in 24 hours dumped 29 inches of rain on low-lying, thickly populated areas of Japan's southernmost major island left at least 253 persons dead today and more than 800 missing or unaccounted for.

Britain Backs U.S. Proposal To Ban Arms

LONDON (AP)—Britain today pledged support for the United States plan to ban outer space weapons. At the same time she rejected Russia's proposal for prohibiting all forms of rocket warfare.

A British informant said Cmd. Alan Noble told the five-power UN disarmament sub-committee that Britain considers the American proposal should "appropriately" be included in a partial disarmament treaty.

The American proposal, submitted Thursday by Harold E. Stassen, envisaged that a technical committee, within three months after a disarmament accord comes into effect, should design means of ensuring that outer space missiles be developed only for peaceful purposes.

The source said Noble told the five-power United Nations group that Britain could not accept Soviet proposals for banning all forms of guided missiles and rocket armaments.

The actual banning of research on armed missiles would not come until the second stage of disarmament, after scientists had agreed on a system of enforcement.

Following his usual practice, Soviet delegate Valerian Zorin did not immediately accept or reject the proposal. He said it would be studied.

Japanese Curb Russian Envoys

TOKYO (AP)—The Japanese government has restricted travel by Soviet diplomats in Japan in retaliation for similar curbs put on Japanese in Moscow. Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi's cabinet today announced the 26 members of the Soviet embassy, their families and servants could travel 25 miles beyond the heart of Tokyo only with special permission.

GRIM ENDING TO SEARCH

WHITE LAKE, Ont. (CP)—The search for a missing airman, Flight Sgt. C. A. W. Larose, 41, came to a grim and sudden end Thursday when his body was found hanging from a tree.

Ontario Provincial Police described Larose's death as suicide, adding that their investigation disclosed the airman purchased some rope in nearby Arnprior last Thursday, the day he vanished.

Death Stalks At Wedding Celebration

CAIRO (UP)—A midnight wedding party ended in death for at least 62 persons including the bride when an ancient building collapsed to the stamping and clapping of guests watching an Egyptian belly dancer.

The police sergeant in charge of the rescue squad said 62 bodies had been dug out of the wreckage of the four-story building.

One police official said "as many as 77 may have been killed" when the walls of the house came crashing down on more than 200 guests. Another 15 persons were reported in serious condition at hospitals, and it was feared the death toll would rise.

The bride, 19-year-old Fatma el Shmy, wearing her white wedding dress, was found in the debris. The bridegroom escaped with injuries.

$19 Million Take in U.S. Public Fraud

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Five men were convicted Thursday night of conspiracy to defraud the Pennsylvania turnpike commission of $19,500,000 by allegedly drilling countless "unnecessary" holes in abandoned mines along the super highway's right-of-way.

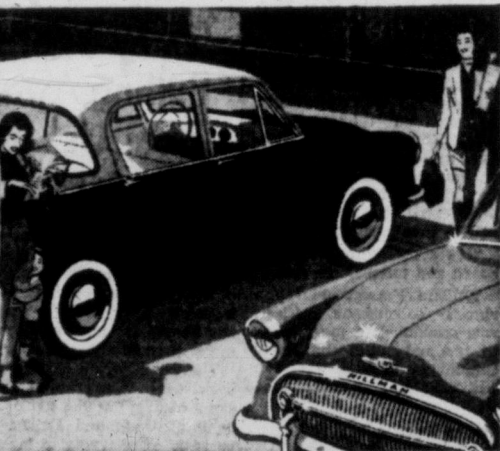

Four other men were acquitted in the case that Governor George M. Leader has said involved "the greatest public swindle of all time."

One of the convicted men was former turnpike commission chairman Thomas J. Evans and another was his nephew, Charles W. Sticker Jr., president of a Reading, Pa., engineering firm formed in 1952 with $1,800 capital and worth a stock value four years later of more than $1,080,000.

'Picnic' Crowd Of 3,000 Hear Garden Concert

By AUDREY SLD. JOHNSON

Responding to an appeal to "come early, bring supper and fill your cars," Butchart Gardens lawns were thickly dotted by 3 p.m. Thursday with large groups of families and friends who defied cool breezes and threatening skies.

Last of this season's garden symphony concerts, the occasion attracted a crowd of more than 3,000.

Grandparents, parents, teenagers, toddlers, babies in arms, invalids in wheelchairs, enjoyed the fabulous gardens, but all paid the Victoria Symphony Orchestra and guest star, tenor Charles Edward O'Neill, the tribute of attention and hearty applause they merited.

O'Neill proved not only to have a voice that matched his towering physique, but one that is richly resonant and superb in quality and that is handled with discretion and a genuine musical feeling.

His performance in the "Pagliacci" and "La Boheme" arias suggested an operatic ability which could parallel that of Gigli.

As for that dear old chestnut, "Daddy Boy," it has seldom sounded more beautiful.

FAMILIAR PROGRAM
A comfortably familiar but worthwhile program had been selected by Hans Gruber, and the orchestra played it with spirit and confidence.

The Tchaikovsky "Swan Lake" ballet suite and Schubert "Unfinished" Symphony were particularly well received. The former proved that even a delicate thread of sound is effective and crystal-clear in this setting with Alan Macey's unique sound equipment.

Spinners of the delicate thread were harpist Lorna Langley, concert master Carol McCartney and leading cellist, Mary Evans.

Attendance at the concert this year has gone over the 10,000 mark, which constitutes a record for the four years in which they have been held.

LONDON SEES VIOLENCE

Strikers Hurl Bottles, Bricks

LONDON (Reuters)—Bottles and bricks were flung today at police-escorted convoys of fruit and vegetable trucks bringing supplies to London's five strike-bound produce markets.

Violence in the food strike and in another stoppage of 100,000 provincial bus workers was less marked today, however, following a government warning Thursday.

Most quarters predicted a quick end to the week-old bus strike. A government tribunal Thursday proposed an 11-shilling ($154 weekly) pay raise for the workers and employers immediately approved it.

This removed tension prevailing in many parts of the country where pickets had tried to halt all road travel and clashed with non-striking drivers.

EXTRA POLICE GUARDS
In the food strike, police escorts and pickets conducted a race to get at the loaded farm trucks first.

The motorized pickets raced down to the farm country and tried to persuade drivers not to bring the produce to market.

Extra police guarded the five main London Markets, hit by a strike of 3,500 food handlers, as the truck convoys pulled in.

The bottles and bricks were hurled at a convoy arriving at Spitalfields market. Strikers and their wives shouted, jeered and threw bottles at the loaded trucks.

Electricians Accept Offer

VANCOUVER (CP)—City-employed electricians Thursday agreed to accept a new wage offer from council but final settlement of their strike—in its 50th day—was still under the corner.

Acceptance depends, the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers said, on council's agreement to "certain non-cost items."

The wage agreement reached provides for a 10 per cent increase retroactive to last Jan. 1; a three per cent increase effective Oct. 1; four per cent more next Jan. 1; and a final four per cent next July 1. At the end of the two-year period, wages would have been raised 21 per cent. The contract would expire Dec. 31, 1958.
